COOLIDGE PLEA SENDS PARTY'S HOPES SOARING

Praise of Hoover Called Timely Boost to Carry East.

REELECTION SPEECH WOULD BE WELCOME

Republican Campaign Worry Cleared While Democrats Await Smith's Action.

(United Press.)

Former President Calvin Coolidge's plea for the reelection of President Hoover sent a cheering glow through administration hearts yesterday, demonstrating the important role the former Chief Executive still plays in Republican politics.

Appearance of the Coolidge campaign document signalizes a concentrated Republican drive upon the East where the Coolidge philosophy has always had its most potent appeal and where Republicans pin their hopes for a November victory.

What pleased the administration circles most in the Saturday Evening Post article of the former President was the personal praise of President Hoover. This struck an unusually effusive note for the unemotional New Englander, a note for which Republicans hoped but which they were not sure they would get.

Typical Coolidge Document.

Other than the warm words of praise, the pronouncement was typically a Coolidge document. Even-tempered in tone it was built up carefully with a preamble of Coolidge political philosophy. It bristled with figures like the former President's White House documents, and carried a tone of admonition throughout.

Because it is written in terms the common man understands, the statement is expected to be distributed widely as a sort of campaign Bible for lesser figures to paraphrase in the nine critical weeks before the election.

Republicans expected some word from the former President, but as the weeks wore on they were becoming a bit anxious.

Further Action Speculative.

Coolidge proceeded very cautiously when the Hoover candidacy was first advanced in 1928. Just what he might do—though he had stated he did not choose to run—was one of the chief worries of Hooverites almost up to the time of the balloting at the Kansas City convention. Those who traveled West with Mr. Hoover when he was going home to vote, just before the 1928 election, recall how anxiously the party awaited the customary message of well wishes and how the terse Coolidge telegram reached the train at St. Louis.

Speculation now centers upon whether the former President will contribute anything further to the Hoover campaign than the magazine article. Republicans would like him

The dead woman was partially identified at Emergency Hospital shortly after the accident as Miss Evelyn Cochran, 20 years old, of 637 I street northwest. The injured woman, police were told, was Miss Fanny Ehrlick, 21, of 3629 Warder street northwest.

The man was identified early this morning as Robert Ruppel, 929 Fifth street northwest. He was in a semi-conscious condition and was unable to talk. He is believed to have suffered serious internal injuries.

Chief of Canadian Air Force Missing in Flight

Cormorant Lake, Man., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Flying Officer R. C. Gordon, commander of the Royal Canadian Air Force station here, who this afternoon took off to fly 4 miles above the earth carrying instruments of Dr. Robert A. Millikan's scientific party, had failed to return early tonight.

Leaving the air base at 1:45 p. m., he was expected back before 6 p. m., but had failed to return nearly two hours later. Other aviators said he might have landed on some other lake, out of gasoline.

Sir Gilbert Parker, British Author, Dies

Statesman Had Several Close Relatives in America.

SIR GILBERT PARKER.

London, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Sir Gilbert Parker, the Canadian-born Englishman, who gained fame in the fields of literature and statesmanship at the turn of the century, died in his seventieth year today after a heart attack.

The author of such best sellers as "The Seats of the Mighty" and "The Lane That Had No Turning," had been in good health, working steadily in his London flat in Whitehall Court until Sunday, when it was necessary for nurses to attend him. Just before the end Dr. A. Leslie Lankester was called in, and the famous author expired at 6:30 p. m.

Present were only nurses, Sir Gilbert's valet and the physician. He had no close relatives in England, although several reside in Canada and the United States.

Sir Gilbert's wife, the former Amy Van Tine, wealthy New York heiress, died in 1925, after the couple had been married for 30 years.

Before Sir Gilbert went to London in the early 90's he had done considerable writing which, however, had not attracted universal attention. It was not until he developed a leading character, half hero and half villian but essentially an adventurer, and preferably an adventurer of the North Woods, that Sir Gilbert won his way into the best seller group.

But just as he began to reap the rewards of his work, he began to devote more of his time to politics, and in 1900 became a member of Parliament from Gravesend, serving eighteen years. He was created a knight in 1902, a baronet in 1915, and in 1916 was made a member of the privy council.

FALSE FIRE-ALARM SUSPECT ARRESTED

Prisoner Trapped at Phone Alleged to Have Sent In $6,000 Worth.

A carefully prepared chart of all pay telephone stations in Georgetown and the ability of an operator at the District fire board to recognize voices yesterday led to the arrest of an alleged false fire alarm addict who has been a thorn in the flesh of the Fire Department for more than a year.

Fire authorities said the man's undoing came through his persistence in turning in the false alarms from the same neighborhood.

His favorite trick was to wait until the apparatus from No. 5 Engine House, 3208 M street northwest, was out on a call and then turn in another local call in the area. This would necessitate bringing engines from the downtown station to fill in for No. 5, already out on the first alarm, firemen said. The man often gave the address of the engine company itself, as the location of the fire."

Joseph M. McInerney, operator at the fire board, was given credit by his superiors for the plan which resulted in the arrest yesterday.

After several false calls to No. 5 Engine House, McInerney attempted to get the name of the person calling when these alarms came in. This apparently frightened the alleged false alarm addict and he changed his policy.

Then he started calling the firemen on false alarms to various sections of Georgetown.

McInerney's patience was exhausted. He decided to investigate. Learning the calls were coming from a pay telephone station, he compiled a chart of all pay phones between Thirtieth,

TRIO IN B.E.F. SWEAR ARMS KEPT IN CAMPS

Affidavit Testifies Dynamite Was Stored at Anacostia; Identity of 3 Secret.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover today will receive from Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds three affidavits signed by "reputable" members of the B. E. F., to the effect that there were small stores of dynamite in the Anacostia camp and guns in the Third street and Pennsylvania avenue camp just prior to the ousting of the marchers last July.

The identity of the three who made the affidavits is not being divulged by the Department of Justice officials, because of the fear that they might be approached. However, it was stated on high authority that each of them bore excellent war records.

In a further effort to shed light on the identity of the persons who had a hand in the arms cache, the trio will be shown pictures of known agitators in both camps. The grand jurors will be quickly informed of any identifications made by the witnesses.

One of the trio swore that he saw several sticks of dynamite in the Anacostia camp. He did not know what became of it. The other two said they had seen bonus marchers carrying guns of varying types in the camp along the Avenue. One of the latter pair was an ice cream vender and he circulated through the camps during the stay of the veterans, picking up information that he later voluntarily turned over to the Department of Justice.

There were many rumors of stores of explosives in the Anacostia camp during the encampment. At one time it was announced that several sticks of alleged dynamite had been taken from a camper by officers of the Army and had been thrown into the river.

3 Kidnaped U. S. Consuls Describe Night of Terror

Feet Are Lacerated, But They Are Otherwise Unhurt as Result of Capture by Bandits; How They Escaped Outlaws.

(Associated Press.)

Three weary young American consuls limped into the American Legation at Teheran Monday with badly lacerated feet, but otherwise unharmed by a night of terror passed as the captives of bandits in the Persian mountains.

The story of their capture by Lur tribesmen on September 1 and their escape and rescue by Persian soldiers was told in a dispatch to the State Department yesterday from Charles C. Hart, American Minister at Teheran. He related the experience of Robert B. Streeper, of Columbus, Ohio, consul and third secretary of legation at Teheran; Cyril L. F. Thiel, of Chicago, consul at Jerusalem, and Thomas A. Hickok, of Rochester, Pa., vice consul at Jerusalem.

After their capture, Hart said, the consuls were stripped of all clothing except their underwear, robbed of all valuables and forced to run and walk 25 miles into the high mountains, under threat of death if Persian troops attempted rescue.

Troops surprised the bandits, who numbered about 200, while they were dividing the loot taken from the Americans and occupants of seven other motor cars and two mail vans. The Lurs scattered and the consular officers, still scantily clad, escaped and passed the freezing night in hiding.

The Americans attempted to reach the Persian rescue party, but were fired upon in the darkness. At dawn they located a Persian scout and were taken to a military encampment, where two dead and several wounded Lurs were seen.

Horses were provided the consuls to return to the main road, where they found their car, abandoned by the Lurs, and drove to Kermanshah Saturday night.

The governor there, a former Kadjar prince, treated the consuls with great courtesy and apologized for the discomfort they had suffered. He told them when news of the capture was received three regiments were immediately ordered out to the rescue and a report was made to the foreign office in Teheran.

The consular officers were on their way from Bagdad to Teheran, a distance of 450 miles, when accosted halfway between the two points. Their capture is supposed to have been for the purpose of holding them as hostages for return of Lur tribesmen held prisoner at Teheran.

WEEK'S REPORT ON BUSINESS IS BEST IN 2 YEARS

Federal Reserve Statement Reflects Gains Against Slump.

$120,000,000 DEPOSIT INCREASE REVEALED

Loans and Investments Rise $40,000,000; Decline of Failures Shown.

(United Press.)

The smashing attack by the leading business men of the Nation upon the depression was reflected here yesterday in the most optimistic weekly statement issued by the Federal Reserve Board in two years.

As stock and commodity prices shot to higher levels on the various exchanges the conservative Reserve Board reported these striking developments:

1. Net demand deposits increased $120,000,000 over those of the previous week. This was regarded as a renewal of confidence by business men, who are prepared to utilize these funds for expansion of trade and thus relieve unemployment. It also represents a decrease in money hoarded.

Loans and Investments.

2. Loans and investments for the week ended August 31 increased $40,000,000 over the previous week. This development was interpreted as a clear indication that banks are loaning more money to industry and individuals for investment purposes.

3. The Federal Reserve banks continued their open market purchases of Government securities to the extent of $44,000,000. Authorities here said these purchases had played an important part in the steady increase of commodity and bond prices.

The report also showed member Reserve banks borrowed $158,000,000 during the past week from the Federal System. This was an increase of $8,000,000 over the previous week and was regarded as a healthy sign of business recovery.

Loan Applications Decline.

At the time the Reserve Board issued its optimistic statement, officials of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation said applications by banks for loans from the corporation have declined four-fifths during the last few days.

This improved banking situation was due to a decrease in bank failures and to the generally improved business and financial conditions throughout the Nation, authorities here said.

Economists and financial leaders found much to cheer about in the Finance Corporation's report. It was pointed out heretofore loans to financial institutions have greatly outnumbered those made to other enterprises.

In the last few days the offices of the corporation have been flooded with more than 200 applications for loans for self-liquidating projects.

Machinery necessary to grant loans of this character is nearly completed.

Mother and 3 Children Missing in Texas Flood

Abilene, Tex., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Mrs. George Mullens, 30, of Ontario, Calif., and her three young children were missing tonight and believed to have been drowned today in flooded little Elm Creek. Mullens was rescued by boat from the top of a tree whose lower branches had offered him temporary haven as, helpless, he was swirled down the raging creek.

The Mullens family was en route to their home from a vacation in Arkansas and abandoned an automobile when flood waters stalled the motor. As they attempted to wade to safety, the current swept them apart.

Pedestrian Is Shot In Boston Robbery

One Outlaw Is Seized After Trio Gets $2,000 in Daylight Holdup.

Boston, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A pedestrian was shot and an alleged bandit captured late today as three gunmen waylaid a milk dealer and robbed him of $1,500 in cash and $500 in negotiable checks. Henry A. Roach, 17, was shot in the left thigh.

En route to a bank, Joseph J. Herlihy, 63, proprietor of Herlihy Brothers, Inc., of Somerville, was struck with the butt of a pistol by one bandit while a second grabbed a bag containing the money and fled, as did the driver of the bandit car.

Robert W. Gradley ran to aid Herlihy and was fired upon, police said, by the bandit. The bullet went wild and struck Roach. The bandit broke away from Herlihy but was seized by a policeman. The captured man gave his name as George Collins, 32, of Chicago, Ill.

SUBURBAN RATE FOR WATER IS 3 TIMES D.C. LEVY

Report Shows Difference in Sanitary Group and Consumer Cost.

CHARGES ARE ABOVE FIGURES IN DISTRICT

Commission Cites Service Given Free to Many as Cutting Income.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This fourth article of a series on the water situation in the territory covered by the Washington-Suburban Sanitary Commission, reveals some interesting facts on the cost of water. Tomorrow's story will divulge additional facts on water prices and assessments. These stories appear exclusively in The Washington Post.

The water sold by the District to the Washington-Suburban Sanitary Commission at the rates of $65 and $75 a million gallons is, in turn, resold to the home owners in the sanitary district at rates averaging $220 a million gallons, or slightly more than three times the original purchase price.

The consumption cost to the average customer of the commission is 22 cents per 1,000 gallons. Taking an average use of 50,000 gallons in each home, the yearly rate amounts to $11.

Charge Lower Here.

This figure does not include the other items in the customer's tax bill, such as the general tax, the front foot benefit charge and the water service charge.

In the District the minimum water charge is $8.75 for 7,500 cubic feet, or the equivalent of about 56,000 gallons. So that a District taxpayer in an average size home obtains for $8.75, the same quantity of drinking fluid that would cost the county home owner $12.32, or $3.57 in excess of the District charge.

For the sanitary commission to produce 1,000,000 gallons in its own plant, costs $44, according to figures issued by the commission. This is $21 lower than the minimum purchase price from the District. This production figure includes the cost of drawing the water from the Northwest Branch, pumping, electrical current and the distribution.

Free Supplies Cited.

The sanitary commisison points out that the fire departments in its area are furnished free water; water used in hydrant flushing is without cost, and all municipal buildings are supplied gratis. The commission estimates that only 70 per cent of the quantity actually used is paid for.

The sliding rate scale, which diminishes as consumption increases, lowers the average receipts to 18 cents per 1,000 gallons, the commission figures show. This, less the 30 per cent for uncharged water, leaves the average rate received by the commission per 1,000 gallons at 12.6 cents.

For every million gallons produced, the figures show, the commission ac-

Sheriff Says Youth Safe, Though Crowd Gathers

Waynesville, N. C., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A large crowd milled about the county jail here tonight, where Charlie Rose, 17-year-old Negro wanted for affronting a young white girl and who allegedly killed Bill Ray, 25, deputy sheriff, who sought to arrest him, was being held.

Sheriff J. A. Lowe said the prisoner had not been moved to another jail for safekeeping because he knew the people in the crowd and was certain he could maintain order. Ray, who is married and has one child, died tonight from a bullet wound through the forehead.

Rivals in Congress Race Tie at 10,429

Californians to Draw Lots to Decide Republican Nomination.

Fresno, Calif., Sept. 5 (A.P.).—District Attorney Glenn M. De Vore, of Fresno County, and H. E. Barbour, incumbent, have tied for Republican nomination for member of Congress from the Ninth California District. After all absentee ballots were counted today it was announced officially that each had received 10,429 votes.

California election laws provide that when candidates tie in any contest in which the voting occurs in more than one county, the candidates shall appear at the office of the Secretary of State and by lot decide which candidate's name shall appear upon the November ballot.

The Democratic nomination for Congress from this district was won by Denver S. Church, of Fresno, over Barbour.

Jean Harlow, Grilled By Police, Collapses

Doctor in Honolulu Says He Knows Motive and Will Testify.

JEAN HARLOW BERN.

Hollywood, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Jean Harlow's story of her life tragedy tumbled incoherently from the blonde screen siren's lips tonight as she told police of her farewell to Paul Bern, her husband, a few hours before he died.

The actress collapsed again after brief questioning by police in their search for a clew to the picture producer's unexplained death by a gunshot wound. A physician administered sedatives in a vain attempt to quiet her stormy sobs.

Afterward the detectives held a conference with Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios and employer of both Miss Harlow and her late husband, and Meyer Silverberg, the producer's attorney.

"Miss Harlow is in a serious condition and the quizzing by these policemen did her no good," Dr. Harold B. Barnard said as he left the house where the officials were deciding what announcement to make.

Detective Captain Joseph Taylor emerged with Mayer later and said Miss Harlow was unable to shed any light on the mystery. The actress moaned and cried fitfully as she protested that the whole affair baffled her.

"I don't know! I don't know!" Taylor said Miss Marlow cried as they asked her for an explanation of Bern's suicide note—"This is the only way to make good the frightful wrong I have done you."

With tears streaming down her face, Miss Harlow went over the same story she gave in an official studio

LINDBERGH SUSPECT NAMES 9 IN WRITS

Schenck Charges He Was Held 76 Days Without Warrant.

Clearfield, Pa., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Warrants were turned over to State police tonight for the arrest of nine men accused by Garret Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish peddler, who charges he was held captive 76 days following the Lindbergh kidnaping.

The warrants charge J. J. Devine, Johnstown private detective, and Roy Cummings, also of Johnstown, with kidnaping.

Schenck, found Saturday in a mountain cabin near Somerset, Pa., told investigators he was removed from Hopewell to the hills near Dubois and later was transported to Somerset.

Charles Horner and Edward Benshaw, of Johnstown; Avery Conners and Frank Shugarts, of Dubois; Paul Cupp, of Johnstown; Russell L. Love, Dubois chief of police, and Reuben Rakestraw, of Dubois, are accused of being accessories and in addition, all are charged with conspiracy.

In company with Sheriff Ira McCloskey, Schenck appeared today before Justice of the Peace J. E. Herdman and signed the information.

Schenck, in voluntary custody of the sheriff, returned to the Clearfield Jail.

Sheriff McCloskey explained that Schenck was found after a man guarding him had communicted with Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown.

With a State trooper and a police officer, Sheriff McCloskey went to the mountain cabin, talked with Schenck and he volunteered to accompany the officers to Johnstown.

REICH ARMS PLEA HIT IN PARIS NOTE TO U.S.

France Holds Disarmament Would Be Periled by Granting Request.

Paris, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—France has informed the United States that the cause of disarmament would be endangered if Germany's request for arms equality were approved, it was learned today from an official source.

Indications were that Premier Edouard Herriot, in obedience to his interpretation of public sentiment, would eschew direct negotiations with Berlin over the German request and would transfer the issue to the League of Nations and eventually to the disarmament conference.

The cabinet probably will meet tomorrow for another discussion of the German move. The expectation tonight was that France would make no answer to the Berlin communication but would join in a concerted reply to be framed after consultation with the United States and with the powers which signed the recent European pact of confidence.

In addition to informing the United States that the cause of disarmament would be harmed by acceding to Germany's request, France is understood also to have asserted that such action would endanger international conditions generally.

Assurances were given that because French leaders realize Germany can not be omitted from efforts to consolidate European peace, the German representations will be examined minutely.

Some French commentators have taken the position that the German move represented a real effort on the part of the Berlin government to establish a workable entente with France on the vital question of armaments as part of general cooperation between the two nations.

Rugby Team Star Rescues 8 From Lake Erie Undertow

Dr. Angus D. McLachlin, of Western Ontario University, Saves All From Drowning by Heroic Exploits; Human Chain Draws Him In.

London, Ontario, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Dr. Angus D. McLachlin, captain of the University of Western Ontario's rugby team, was revealed today as the rescuer of eight swimmers from an undertow in Lake Erie yesterday.

The series of near tragedies began when a lad was swept beyond his depth. The boy's father pushed him to safety, but himself was borne out by the strong current.

His cries for help brought young McLachlin. For 150 yards he battled towering breakers until he reached the 200-pound man's side and brought him to safety.

Another cry went up far out in the breakers. A swimmer who had tried to help in the rescue was caught. McLachlin brought him in.

A bather next saw an arm thrown up. A youth had given up the struggle. Dr. McLachlin took the plunge again. Before the two reached the shore the youth had collapsed, but revived soon.

A few minutes later a girl of 8 and her older brother were swept away. Only their arms could be seen as the boy struggled to keep the girl and himself afloat. When McLachlin reached them the girl was unconscious. The young doctor brought her in and then rescued the boy.

Officials by this time had stopped selling bathing tickets, but a gray-haired man ventured out too far ten minutes later. Dr. McLachlin, nearing exhaustion, reached his side, but he could not make shore, so strong had the undertow become. A human chain was formed from shore and all brought in.

Finally two other swimmers were rescued by Dr. McLachlin, who again defied the undertow and held them up until a lifeboat had been launched. McLachlin had to be rescued himself on that trip.

The exploits of the young doctor are being drawn to the attention of the Royal Humane Society.

Kentucky G.O.P. Picks Thatcher's Successor

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—J. C. Speight, of Mayfield, was named to succeed Representative Maurice H. Thatcher, of Louisville, on the slate of nine Republican congressional nominees at a meeting here today of the Republican State central committee.

REICH REVEALS 9-POINT ARMS EQUALITY PLAN

Asks Confidential Talk Between French and German Officials.

STATEMENT DENIES MILITARISM CHARGE

Will Refuse to Participate at Geneva Unless Position Is "Cleared Up."

Berlin, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The first point of Germany's recent demand for arms equality was revealed tonight as providing for "confidential talks between the German and French governments."

After Geneva parleys, the memorandum (aide memoire) proposed such a talk as the best method of coming to an understanding, with each nation frankly and openly laying down its standpoints and desires.

This information was contained in the text which was made public tonight by the German foreign minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, who said he took the action to dispose of current erroneous interpretations of the much discussed disarmament paper.

The document was handed to the French Ambassador, Andre Francois-Poncet, last week. The text, as made public tonight, revealed that it contained nine points, most of them stressing the German stand that she must be given equality in armaments.

Denies Plan to Rearm.

It was confirmed that Germany insisted she could no longer participate in the disarmament discussions at Geneva until her position was "cleared up."

In a statement accompanying the equality text, the foreign minister explained that publication had been decided upon to refute charges brought against Germany that she was planning to rearm to prewar standard.

He added the aide memoire was intended to be confidential, but that France had deemed it her right to communicate it to others. It was insisted there was nothing unusual or surprising in the document, nor was there any intention of throwing obstacles in the path of a disarmament convention.

The foreign minister said the paper was simply intended to pave the way for confidential preliminary negotiations, which had been envisaged by both the French and German representatives in Geneva. He concluded France had been approached first because she heretofore had been more remote than other nations from the German standpoint.

Summary of Document.

A resume of the document:

First—Following the Geneva parleys, Germany believes the best method of coming to an understanding is a confidential talk between the French and German governments each frankly and openly laying down their standpoints and desires. If France agrees, either would be free to inform other powers, especially the United States, Great Britain and Italy, which may participate in negotiations later.

Second—Germany could not agree to the Geneva resolution, not only because it plainly showed the disarmament convention will remain far behind the Treaty of Versailles, but also because the question is left open as to whether the resolution is applicable also to Germany. Until this is cleared up, Germany can no longer participate in the negotiations.

(The World Disarmament Conference adopted a resolution at Geneva July 23 promising an agreement for substantial reduction of armaments

ROOSEVELT SEEKS TO UNITE FACTIONS

Goes to Syracuse to Line Up Support of Lehman for Governorship.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt played the part of a peacemaker today in an endeavor to heal breaches in party ranks that threaten the loss of the State to him in November.

While Roosevelt came here to visit the State fair, it is understood the primary purpose of the trip was to line up support for Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, his "right-hand man," who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but who faces opposition from Tammany and the powerful O'Connell machine in Albany County.

Friends of the governor also believed his conversations today with up-State Democratic chieftains were concerned with the meeting of the Democratic State committee Friday in Albany.

Farley Expected to Remain.

Although some credence has been given reports that in the place of James A. Farley a new State chairman would be selected at the insistence of Tammany and other groups lukewarm to the Roosevelt wing, it was declared the governor felt confident Farley would remain.

If Roosevelt is elected Farley is expected to relinquish his State chairmanship because of pressure of national political business. It is argued that to refuse him a vote of confidence at this time would give the governor the opportunity to go out and show up his opponents within the party as governed solely by selfish motives and a desire for revenge.

Goes to Vermont Today.

Roosevelt conferred today with William H. Kelley, veteran Democratic leader of Onondaga County, and while Kelley was noncommittal after the meeting it was believed the governor had won him over to the Lehman cause.

Forces behind the lieutenant governor assert they have pledges of support totaling 40 votes short of a majority to nominate at the State convention. With this strength they count on going into the convention and letting a band wagon rush do the rest. The four O'Connell brothers, close allies of Tammany, have Mayor John Boyd Thacher 2d, of Albany, as their candidate for governor.

The governor left on a late afternoon train for Albany. He will go to Rutland, Vt., tomorrow afternoon to further his campaign in that rock-ribbed Republican State which he has hopes of carrying in November.

Hoover Held Firm In Middle West

Hatfield Says 1932 Vote for Republicans Will Exceed 1928.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Republican optimism in the Middle West and a prediction that President Hoover will get a bigger majority than in 1928 were reported to Republican Eastern headquarters today by Senator Hatfield, of West Virginia.

As chairman of the Senate campaign committee, he conferred with Senator Hastings, of Delaware, assistant Eastern campaign manager.

"Conditions are improving," he said. "I have just made a trip through the Middle West and I found much optimism. The President is very strong every place I visited. There will be innumerable Democrats this year who will swing over to the Republican side. And this tendency is growing right along. There were thousands of Democrats who were on the fence for a long time. But the acceptance speech made by the President knocked them off, and they fell to the Republican side."

Lawyer Reports Seeing Sherwood

Fugitive in Walker Case Visited Kansas City, Seeking Refuge.

Kansas City, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A Kansas City lawyer and former public official said today he had been visited at his office recently by a man who stated he was Russell Sherwood, much sought reputed financial agent of former Mayor Walker of New York. The visit took place a few days before the mayor resigned.

The man was described as about 45 years old, had graying hair and weighed about 170 pounds. He explained he had money, and asked for a place of refuge from persons he said had hounded him in old Mexico and New Mexico.

"Two detectives caught up with me on a ranch in New Mexico, where I believed I was safe. The brother of the rancher was the county sheriff, and through him I escaped from the detectives by feigning illness, being taken to a hospital and fleeing from it," he was quoted by the Kansas City attorney.

A vacant furnished apartment was given the man to stay in here, and he was assured his presence and identity would be kept secret, the lawyer added. After one night in the apartment, however, the man disappeared.

Swanson Leaves Today For Roosevelt Parley

(Associated Press.)

Senator Swanson will go to New York today for a conference with James A. Farley, Democratic national committee chairman. He plans going from there to Albany for discussion of campaign matters with Gov. Roosevelt.

Swanson is chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. The trip, he said, is for the purpose of coordinating the presidential and senatorial campaigns.

Mayor McKee Slashes Own Salary by $15,000

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Mayor Joseph V. McKee, who succeeded James J. Walker, announced tonight he was cutting his own salary immediately from $40,000 to $25,000 a year.

At the same time he slashed the salaries of all city commissioners, who receive $15,000 a year and hold their jobs by appointment, to $12,000. He also said, after a conference with the city budget director, that he was insistent on a "deep cut" into the $425,000,000 budget items for salaries.

Youth Steals Airplane Ride, Hanging to Tail

Meeteetse, Wyo., Sept. 6 (A.P.). Jerry O'Leary tried a new type of sky-riding and found it quite thrilling, if not satisfactory.

Unknown to Pilot Bill Monday, of Cody, the youth grabbed the tail of Monday's plane yesterday and rode aloft, hanging on frantically as the ship wavered unsteadily with its rear-end weight.

From the ground, Monday's assistant waved to him and the pilot, after climbing 1,000 feet for safety, brought the plane back to earth in a forced landing, without damage to the ship, injury to five passengers or to O'Leary.

ROBERTSON NAMED TO SUCCEED TUCKER

Democrats of Virginia Seventh Choose State Official for Congress.

Harrisonburg, Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Seventh District Democrats in convention here early today named Maj. A. Willis Robertson, of Lexington, as the district's nominee for the United States House of Representatives, and Joel Flood, of Appomattox, was named as the party's nominee for the same house from the old Tenth, which is to be merged at the expiration of the present session of Congress. They were named in convention made necessary by the death of Representative Tucker, during the summer.

Maj. Robertson, Virginia commissioner of game and inland fisheries, was named for the long term, which is to begin with the next session of Congress. Mr. Flood was named for the unexpired term of Representative Tucker, who previously represented the Tenth District, and had announced his candidacy for the Seventh, which, under the recent redistricting act made necessary by the 1930 census, absorbed most of the Tenth.

Maj. Robertson will be opposed by Jacob A. Garber, Republican, Harrisonburg, a former member of the House of Representatives, who was left out of the election two years ago because he failed to file his notice of candidacy for reelection within the required time.

His notice already is on file for the forthcoming November election, however, and those of Mr. Flood, and Maj. Robertson were said to be in the mails today, scheduled to reach the secretary of the Commonwealth before midnight tomorrow, when the time for filing expires.

Mississippi's Election Row Further Clouded

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Mississippi's muddled congressional election problem appeared further from solution than ever today as Associate Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, of the United States Supreme Court, denied the State's petition that he lift a Federal Court injunction against operation of the Mississippi redistricting act.

Denial of the petition followed a recent hearing in chambers at New York. Justice Cardozo said no final decision by the Supreme Court on the act's constitutionality could be expected prior to the November general election and the injunction, granted by a special three-judge tribunal at New Orleans would have to remain in force.

Vandenberg Denounces Garner Attack on Tariff

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Garner's attack on the tariff in his acceptance speech was termed "familiar fiddle-faddling" by Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, Monday in a statement issued through the Republican national committee.

"His fellow Democrats," said Vandenberg, "hitch-hiked on the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill for every protective rate they could get on their own home commodities and then piously voted against the completed bill after carefully contributing enough votes to warrant its passage."

Walcott Lauds Hoover On Business Attitude

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Senator Frederic C. Walcott, in an address tonight, praised President Hoover for his stand on prohibition, for his attitude toward business recovery and for his attempts to balance the Federal budget.

"The President's interpretation of the ambiguous prohibition plank adopted at Chicago is courageous and clear," Walcott said in the keynote speech at the Republican State convention.

Atlantic Coast May Miss Storm

Weather Bureau Says High Wind Moving Northeast Over Ocean.

(Associated Press.)

Weather Bureau officials last night said there was no indication the tropical disturbance, centered about 250 miles east and slightly south of Daytona, Fla., would reach the mainland.

Although the storm, the second within as many weeks to blow up in the Southern waters, was reported of great intensity and accompanied by high winds, it apparently was moving slowly north-northeastward with nothing but ocean to both the north and east. Forecasters did not see any change in its direction that would threaten the coast.

Advisory storm warnings were continued at 9:30 p. m., Eastern standard time, however, north of Savannah to Wilmington, N. C., as a precaution against strong winds resulting from pressure conditions surrounding the general storm area. At the same time warnings were taken down north of Miami to Daytona. At noon northeast storm warnings were ordered north of Wilmington to Cape Hatteras.

The Weather Bureau said the disturbance over the ocean was surrounded by a wide storm area, and that ships had reported wind velocity of 80 miles an hour.

M'COOEY TO ASSIST ROOSEVELT'S DRIVE

McKee Wins First Dispute With Tammany, Saving City $49,760.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Conferences between John H. McCooey, Brooklyn Democratic leader, and Roosevelt-Garner campaign chiefs today were followed by an announcement that McCooey will have an office at Democratic national headquarters and will "cooperate" in the campaign.

"I am confident Gov. Roosevelt will carry New York State," said James A. Farley, national chairman, in reply to questions as he came from an hour's session with McCooey.

Before James J. Walker resigned as Mayor, Farley made a similar statement, in reply to a Republican claim that Roosevelt could not carry his own State, and without New York's 47 electoral votes would lose the election.

Walker Back in City.

McCooey, in addition to being Democratic national committeeman for New York, is one of the political allies of John F. Curry, Tammany head.

Today's visit to national headquarters was the first he had made.

Walker himself also arrived back in the city, from a three-day rest on a friend's estate.

Standing on the sidewalk in front of his apartment-home, smiling and looking in better health than he did last week, he spread his arms in a wide gesture and said:

"I'm just trying to give an imitation of a private citizen."

Joseph V. McKee, non-Tammany Democrat, who has taken over the duties of mayor, won his first fight with Tammany forces during the day.

Tammany Loses Fight.

It came over the awarding of a contract for printing ballots. The Martin B. Brown Co., which has done the city printing for years, bid $114,760. The Burland Co. bid $65,000.

The board of elections agued the work should go to the higher bidder because the Burland Co. was unequipped to do the job.

Regular Tammany members of the board of estimate cast seven votes to have the bid go to the Brown Co. McKee was joined by the city comptroller and three borough presidents, and by their nine votes they awarded the bid to the lower bidder.

While both Democratic and Republican action in the mayoralty situation was held up pending conferences of leaders, the Socialist party issued a call for a city-wide convention September 15 to name a candidate for mayor and adopt a city platform.

Hoover Returns From Camp Rest

Converses With Secretary Wilbur on 3-Hour Trip to Capital.

(Associated Press.)

After his longest week-end of the season at his Rapidan Mountain Camp, President Hoover returned to his desk at the White House yesterday morning well before the scheduled time for his usual semi-weekly cabinet meeting.

Throughout the nearly three hour ride, Mr. Hoover conversed with Secretary Wilbur, who returned a few days ago from a two months' tour of the West, where he had an opportunity to view economic and political trends.

Because of heavy rains in the mountains, the presidential party did not follow its customary route, but went through Warrenton, Va., by way of Culpeper. Fewer dirt roads were encountered on that route.

THOMAS RAPS BOTH MAJOR CANDIDATES

Accuses Hoover of Giving Business Dole; Roosevelt Called Vacillating.

Indianapolis, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Republican and Democratic nominees for President in the November election were criticised by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, in a prepared address here tonight.

Thomas said President Hoover, the Republican candidate, has "given doles like water to private business in the name of rugged individualism, while he has denied Federal responsibility for Nation-wide unemployment."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, was described by Thomas as "a gentleman of amiable intentions who leans whichever way the wind blows."

Both major political parties also came under the verbal lash of the Socialist candidate. "Over and over we have challenged the Republican and Democratic parties to meet our argument, and they are silent," he said. "They try to deafen you by ballyhoo or bribe you with little favors." • • •

Scores Senator Watson.

United States Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, Republican, a candidate for reelection, and A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States Attorney General, also found disfavor with the speaker.

"A year as so ago I listened to Senator Watson—who I hope will shortly be ex-Senator Watson—in Washington answer a demand I had made as one of the committe for our socialist program for the relief of unemployment," Thomas said.

"Mr. Watson talked like one of the old Bourbon kings of France at the end of feudalism. I thought I was listening to Louis XVI in modern dress and an Indiana accent and why not, for capitalism like feudalism at the end of the 18th century has run its course and nears the end which its own inherent contradictions, its cruelties and its follies have imposed upon it."

Thomas told his hearers that Former Attorney General Palmer had written the platform of Gov. Roosevelt. He declared Palmer to be "the worst Attorney General America ever had."

Socialist principles — a five-day week, relief as a matter of right for every unemployed family, national unemployment insurance and a program of public works, including a conquest of the slums—were outlined by Thomas.

Notes Spirit of Revolt.

Thomas declared the bonus army march, the farmers' strikes in Iowa and Nebraska, and the mine situation in Illinois were signs that the peoples' patience had reached the limit.

Any spirit of revolt, he said, should be turned "into channels of well-thoughtout political action."

"We Socialists still believe," said Thomas, "that there is yet time for a strong, well-organized, political movement supplemented by labor unions and farmers' organizations and cooperatives to bring about social ownership of natural resources by a society of workers of hand and brain."

Thomas will speak at Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow. He was preceded on the platform here tonight by Powers Hapgood, of Indianapolis, Socialist candidate for Indiana Governor, and Forrest Wallace, of Veedersburg, Socialist candidate for United States senator from this State.

Officials said they did not believe the slide would interfere with shipping unless it should be greatly accelerated.

Ashburn Approves Tentative Barge Agreement; Waits Railroads' Action.

(Associated Press.)

Negotiations by the Federal Inland Waterways Corporation and Southwestern railroads for lower rail-barge freight rates on cotton advanced another step yesterday toward a final decision.

A tentative agreement for lower rates was approved by Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the waterways corporation, which operates the Government's barge lines. No details were announced pending action by the railroads.

The Southwestern carriers are expected by officials here to reach a decision on the proposition after a conference tomorrow. It will be presented to them by Vice President J. A. Brown of the Missouri Pacific.

Ashburn expressed optimism that the corporation and railroads would get together on the proposal. The negotiations are in line with the recent action by the Interstate Commerce Commission ordering reduced rates on cotton by the railroads.

Complete details of the conferences were presented to Ashburn yesterday by L. D. Chaffe, traffic manager of the Waterways Corporation, who has been representing it during the negotiations in St. Louis.

It was on Chaffe's recommendation that Ashburn approved the tentative agreement reached with Brown last week. Chaffe came to Washington to familiarize Ashburn thoroughly with the proposal before the railroads acted.

Before the Government can participate in any freight rate reduction it must be approved by Secretary Hurley, of the War Department, who has charge of the Waterways Corporation.

President Rodriguez's inaugural remarks, especially in their promise of continued cordial relations with the United States, were received in official quarters as confirmation of the belief here that the change of presidents would not affect adversely the friendly intercourse which has marked Mexican-American relations during recent years.

Rio Grande Flood Is 10 Miles Wide

Fertile Acres Near Mouth of River Covered in Spill of Water.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Flood waters of the Rio Grande, which have caused a property loss of millions, and the death of more than a dozen persons, tonight spilled 10 miles wide over the fertile acres near its mouth.

The crest of the flood, resulting from torrential rains upstream, has reached Western Hidalgo County, 60 miles upstream from Brownsville. Much of the overflow was being carried away by a huge floodway branching off from the river in the vicinity of Mission.

Lowlands on the Mexican bank were receiving more of the overflow than those on the American side. Small settlements were partially submerged.

The Brownsville Weather Bureau estimated that one-third more water was flowing down the river in this flood than in the disastrous flood of 1922. However, it was believed the lower valley would suffer much less on account of the carefully planned flood control system installed in recent years.

Dr. Aldo Cantoni Stops for Day After Study of U. S. Farms.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Aldo Cantoni, senator from San Juan Province and one of the leaders in Argentina's political and agricultural circles, spent yesterday in the American Capital en route to Buenos Aires via New York.

Dr. Cantoni, who has just completed a trip through the Western part of the United States, expects to sail Saturday on the S. S. Eastern Prince.

While in this country he studied American methods of producing and marketing fruits and grapes, among the major products of his own province.

In Washington he was the guest of Ambassador Espil at luncheon at the embassy, after the two had called during the morning on several governmental officials and Dr. Leo Rowe, director of the Pan American Union.

Airports Favored As Play Centers

W. Irving Glover Describes System Developed in European Countries.

(Associated Press.)

Transformation of flying fields in this country into recreation centers to make visitors air-minded, was an idea brought back from Europe yesterday by W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General, in charge of air mail.

"I wish it were possible," he said, "that the flying fields in this country could be used by pleasure seekers, where they could rest, eat and drink a bottle of soda pop and even dance. It would accustom the man in the street who visits the flying field to become used to seeing planes arriving and departing, carrying their loads of passengers, mail and express. In this way he may become air-minded. Every little bit helps. It has on the other side, why not on this?"

Glover praised the Tempelhof Airport at Berlin and the method of operation of the European lines, but said the United States would be exceeding all European countries by 1933 in the number of passengers carried.

Job Is Re-Created For Postal Clerk

Place Is Provided for Man Ordered Reinstated by Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Re-creation of a $1,700 clerkship in the Gary, Ind., postoffice to provide a place for Ben H. Kerr, who was reinstated at the direction of President Hoover, was ordered yesterday by Arch Coleman, First Assistant Postmaster General.

Kerr was dismissed, Postmaster General Brown informed the President, for "serious infractions of the postal laws." One of the charges made against him by postoffice inspectors was that he introduced a resolution at an American Legion convention proposing cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and that this was contrary to the views of President Hoover.

Kerr's reinstatement was ordered by the President, who said "the fact that Civil Service employes differ with my views does not necessarily constitute "political activity" under the law which forbids such action."

GERMANY DEMANDS FIRST-CLASS RATING

Von Schleicher Says Reich Will Do What Is Necessary for Defense.

Berlin, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Defense Minister Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, who is regarded by many Germans as the real power in the Von Papen government, served notice today that in the matter of armaments Germany "no longer will stand for being treated as a second-class nation."

He made this assertion in a press interview at Koenigsberg and he emphasized it with vigorous gestures. The general was in East Prussia to attend army maneuvers.

"Under all circumstances," he declared, "Germany will do what is necessary for her defense."

His remarks came at a time when the question of German armaments is a live issue in international diplomacy, as France now has under consideration a German request for the elimination of arms restrictions laid down in the Treaty of Versailles.

Discusses East Prussia.

In the interview the defense minister touched upon the problem of East Prussia, which was separated from the rest of the nation by the creation of the Polish corridor under the Versailles Treaty.

The Federal government, he asserted, is ready to defend East Prussia to the last man. The corridor, he pointed out, would be no barrier to the movement of munitions and other materials necessary for defense, as they could be taken in by sea.

While the defense minister was enunciating his arms policy in Koenigsberg, negotiations were going on in Berlin to determine whether it would be possible for Adolf Hitler's National Socialists and the Centrist party to bury their differences and form a coalition government.

Breuning for Coalition.

Former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, Centrist leader, talked over this plan with Hermann Goering, the Nazi speaker of the Reichstag. Herr Hitler will return from the Bavarian Alps Thursday and no decision is expected until then. The united Nazis and Centrists would command a majority.

Speaker Goering issued a formal call for the next meeting of the legislature Monday. Chancellor von Papen will go before the session with a signed and undated decree of dissolution, which he may promulgate to thwart any attempt to overthrow his government.

REICH REVEALS NINE-POINT PROGRAM ON ARMS EQUALITY

in later deliberations. Soviet Russia and Germany voted against the resolution, Germany contending the disarmament commission refused to declare her entitled to a position of equality.)

Question of Equality.

Third—The fundamental point is the question of equality, which Germany has emphasized again and again.

Fourth—Germany would not decline any general disarmament scheme as long as it applied to all powers, hence Germany always has urged that other powers should disarm, each according to its particular situation, down to Germany's status under the Versailles treaty. Germany regretfully finds there is no prospect of this. Germany can not be blamed for refusing to accept a solution entitling the heavily armed powers only slightly to reduce armaments while to Germany the Versailles treaty continues to apply. Germany has the same right to security as others.

Fifth and sixth—The application to Germany of any discriminatory provisos would mean that Germany would continue to be relegated to a second-class position. Germany would insist on a convention paying due regard to her security, but would be content with certain modifications of her present status because she is convinced a second convention will inevitably follow in which Germany's standpoint will receive more adequate recognition.

Demands Service Militia.

Seventh—All categories of arms not generally forbidden by the convention must also be permitted to Germany and likewise such modifications as are needed for her peculiar situation, notably the length of military service and the formation of a special short service militia for the maintenance of order and protection of frontiers—all within the limits of her financial resources.

Eighth—In recent utterances in connection with the German equality question, the French premier has emphasized the significance of security for France. Germany can not at the moment take up a definite attitude in regard to this, as she does not know what the concerte desires of France are, but she is always ready to discuss any projects serving the end of security to everybody.

Ninth—Germany begs France to be assured of the loyal and moderate character of her intentions, but adds the question of equality can no longer be left open. It would serve to relax the present tension if the military discrimination against Germany, which the German people feel to be humiliating, could be eliminated and thereby help to establish the stable equilibrium of Europe.

EGAN IS CONVICTED; LIFE RECOMMENDED

Jury, Out 72 Hours, Finds Tinnin Guilty in Death of Elderly Woman.

San Francisco, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A jury of seven men and five women, weary from three days of deliberation, today convicted Frank J. Egan, ousted city public defender, and his associate, Albert Tinnin, and recommended they be imprisoned for life for the slaying of Egan's former friend and client, Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes.

Sentence will be passed Thursday.

The verdict climaxed a trial lasting weeks and featured by numerous battles between opposing counsel. Egan's attorney Vincent Hallinan was found in contempt of court last Friday and sentenced to 24 hours in jail by Superior Judge Frank H. Dunne for interrupting the closing argument of Prosecutor Isadore M. Golden.

Mrs. Hughes' crushed body was found in the gutter of a residential street the night of April 29. What at first appeared to be a hit-run death, later was diagnosed as murder by investigators. It was discovered the elderly woman's house was locked and she carried no key, and evidence was uncovered that she was killed in her own garage.

The State's case was completed with the arrest and confession of Verne Doran, paroled burglar who had worked for Egan. In the trial of Egan and Tinnin, Doran testified he and Tinnin had been ordered by the then public defender to kill Mrs. Hughes, and had been told how to do it to make it appear a hit-run accident.

Doran was granted a separate trial, and probably will be taken into court this month. The defense tried to show Doran had been surprised burglarizing the Hughes' home and had killed Mrs. Hughes to prevent his arrest and return to prison for violation of parole. But he stuck to his story on the witness stand.

The State contended Egan was in financial difficulties, and stood to benefit, through insurance policies, from Mrs. Hughes' death.

Hallihan announced he would demand a new trial. Oral notice of appeal was given when the verdict was returned, by Gerald Kenny, acting public defender who was appointed to act for Egan in Hallinan's place. Egan protested against the appointment.

The jury was out 72 hours, 10 minutes.

3 Police Again on Trial In Third-Degree Death

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Three Nassau County policemen were being tried for the second time tonight in the Supreme Court at Mineola on charges of manslaughter in connection with the "third degree" death of Hyman Stark, a prisoner. The first trial ended in a jury disagreement. The second jury was selected from a panel of 130 citizens in about three hours.

District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards in his opening address to the jury covered virtually the same ground as in the initial trial, charging that Stark was assaulted after he had been accused of beating a detective's mother in a holdup.

Father Is Indicted As Son's Kidnaper

Kentucky Man Accused of Taking "Million-Dollar Baby" From Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A kidnaping indictment was returned today against Hubert J. Jenkins, of Louisville, Ky., in connection with the disappearance of his son, Hugh Bradford Jenkins, 10, grandson and heir of the late Mayor T. L. Bradford, of Dallas.

The boy, known as the "million dollar baby," had been in custody of the mayor until his death August 22. Mayor Bradford left an estate valued at considerably more than $1,000,000. The boy was one of the three principal heirs.

Mrs. T. L. Bradford received a telegram this afternoon purported to be from Jenkins in Louisville, which said the boy was safe in the Kentucky city. Charles F. O'Donnell, attorney for Mrs. Bradford, said he had asked Louisville authorities to check the boy's presence there. Jenkins took his son from the Bradford country home here yesterday with the expressed purpose of entertaining him at a show.

Murder of U. S. Girl Held Cleared

Young Swiss Is Reported Confessing Slaying of Ohioan.

Viega, Switzerland, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A 20-year-old Swiss has confessed, the Swiss Telegraphic Agency reported today, that he murdered Miss Jerane Ibershoff, of Cleveland, Ohio, who was felled with a rock at the foot of Zermatt Mountain, in the Alps, last week.

The young man, Henri Walther, was brought here from Martigny, where he was arrested yesterday at the postoffice after withdrawing certain identification papers. The Swiss had been arrested for lack of identification papers before the murder was discovered, but released.

(Dispatches from Brig, Switzerland, said Walther had a criminal record, and that under questioning he contradicted himself several times. Police said they found a bicycle near the spot where the young woman was slain and that Walther said it had been stolen from him.)

Miss Ibershoff, a 21-year-old Smith College student, who had been bicycling through Switzerland with her sister, was traveling alone when she was slain, the sister having gone ahead to see about repairing a bicycle. The body was cremated this morning.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 6 (A. P.).—Ada Wright, mother of one of seven Negroes under a death sentence at Scottsboro, Ala., for attacking white girls, left for Vienna today under a police escort. The American woman was ordered to leave Czechoslovakia after she had been charged with meddling in national affairs.

Hutchinson Fined $180 For Greenland Landing

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—George Hutchinson, American flier leading a party of eight from New York to London over the Arctic air route, was fined 1,000 kroner (approximately $180), by the governor of Southern Greenland for landing in Greenland without a permit.

The governor, notifying the Danish government of the penalty today, said Hutchinson's conduct since arriving at Godthaab has been exemplary and that he had expressed sincere regret for his error. The governor said he did not know yet when the Hutchinsons would continue their flight.

Millionaire Seized In Vault Robbery

Montreal Brewer Suspected Because of His Wealth and Intelligence.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Frank J. Parker, millionaire Montreal brewer, was arrested today on suspicion of being connected with Sunday's amazing safe deposit vault robbery.

Police said they captured Parker because they believed him the only suspect intelligent enough and wealthy enough to engineer such an undertaking.

"I'm no bank robber," snorted Parker. "I'm worth about $10,000,000 and I have enough money without stealing more."

Parker, who served four years in Joliet Penitentiary before he became rich, once was known as a Capone man. Police said he originated the system of bringing bonded liquor from Canada by airplane. He now owns three large breweries in Montreal, and much real estate, including illicit breweries, in Illinois, according to the police.

Manhattan Called Finest Cabin Liner

Assistant Postmaster General Wants Third Sister Ship Constructed.

(Associated Press.)

Describing the huge new American liner Manhattan as "the finest cabin ship ever built," W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General, yesterday revealed that the United States Lines were being urged to add a third sister to the Manhattan-Washington family.

Glover had just returned to his desk after making the round trip to Europe on the maiden voyage of the Manhattan while the Washington was being launched in the Delaware River.

Postmaster General Brown and Glover have suggested that the owners of the sea queens construct a third vessel which will give a three-week turn around from New York to Hamburg. The Assistant Postmaster General conferred with officials of the company after the Manhattan docked.

The advisability of extending the Japanese beetle quarantine to Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, North and South Carolina and to unquarantined parts of Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia will be considered here October 4.

The Agriculture Department said yesterday that traps placed this summer had captured Japanese beetles at Augusta and Portland, Me.; Detroit, Mich.; Concord, Dover, Keene, Manchester, Portsmouth and West Lebannon, N. H.; Durham, Raleigh and Winston-Salem, N. C.; Canton, Cleveland, Columbus, Steubenville and Zanesville, Ohio; Florence, S. C.; Bellows Falls, Brattleboro and White River Junction, Vt., and Charles Town, Martinsburg and Wheeling, W. Va.

Additional infestations also were found outside the regulated areas in all States now only partially covered by the quarantine. In Maryland new infestations were found in 21 localities; Massachusetts, 27; New York, 20; Pennsylvania, 27, and Virginia, 17.

Removal of Venizelos Is Royalist's Demand

Athens, Greece, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Removal of Premier Eleutherios Venizelos from office was demanded by P. E. Tsaldaris, Royalist leader, in an interview today with President Alexander Zaimis.

Rumors of a threatened coup by a military association preceded the action of the Royalist party head. He criticized the premier for preelection acitivities which he said were carried on in collaboration with the military group.

CHACO NEGOTIATORS AT CRUCIAL TURNING

See No Hope of Averting Bolivia-Paraguay War by Correspondence.

(Associated Press.)

While public and official opinion in Paraguay reportedly considers as futile continued efforts to settle the Chaco controversy with Bolivia by correspondence, neutral peace negotiations here apparently were not overly alarmed yesterday by that nor by the introduction in the Bolivian Congress of a resolution proposing a formal declaration of war against Paraguay.

Assistant Secretary Francis White of the State Department, chairman, and several members of the neutral commission seeking peace in the Chaco did not return to Washington yesterday from week-end holiday trips. White kept in telephone contact with his office, but no attempt was made to bring the commission together to discuss what obeservers believe to be the most serious situation since the opening of the present peace negotiations.

Possible Arms Embargo.

The scene of interest apparently has shifted from Washington to Buenos Aires and other southern capitals, where a movement to declare a state of belligerency to exist in Paraguay and Bolivia is reported to be considered seriously by the four neighboring governments.

Such a step, almost certain to cut off the belligerents from sources of war materials, would be far more drastic than anything proposed or even seriously contemplated by the neutral commission which, close followers of developments believe, has been viewing with varying degrees of apprehension results of the collective peace efforts of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru.

Two decided failures have been charged against the Washington neutrals in their pacific endeavors of the past week. They could not gain Paraguay's acceptance of a proposal to a 30-day truce effective September 1, and on the basis of the actual territorial positions of troops.

Paraguay's Strong Stand.

Equally unsuccessful were their entreaties to Bolivia to cease mobilization and the massing of troops on the Paraguayan frontier which Paraguay said she considered the worst possible menace to her security.

Paraguay's uncompromising refusal was the source of considerable official pain here. It was ardently hoped she would forget for the moment the three small garrisons held by Bolivian captors since the outbreak of hostilities after June 15. In the interest of immediate peace Paraguay was expected to accept this suggested compromise for 30 days to enable negotiations to proceed here free of the danger of another flare-up in the disputed wilderness.

Bolivia's refusal to cease warlike preparations and Paraguay's determination not to relinquish her moral right to the three small outposts, even for one month, seemingly have left the neutral commission momentarily without resources. New proposals must be found at today's meeting and new issues created. More notes probably will be sent and, possibly, the Washington commission may seek the active practical cooperation of the A. B. C. countries and Peru.

Mills Denies Reports Of Debt Postponement

(Associated Press.)

Returning from a short vacation in Saratoga, N. Y., Secretary Mills said yesterday there had been "no notice of any kind, so far as I know," of any postponements of the December 15 foreign war debt payments.

Mills termed as "rot" published reports that he was in New York to see Montagu Norman, of the Bank of England. Under the debt agreements, foreign nations are required to notify the Treasury before September 15 whether they intend to defer payments due December 15.

RODRIGUEZ PRAISED AS FRIEND OF U. S.

Former Senator Butler Sees Mexico Chief Fostering Trade Relations.

Election of Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez as president of Mexico means much for the future of that country and is welcome news to the government and people of this country, is the opinion of former Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina.

Butler, a close personal friend of Gen. Rodriguez, having entertained him at his home here on the occasion of Rodriguez's last visit to the Capital four years ago, yesterday told a Post reporter his impressions of the new Mexican leader.

"Since the Ottawa conference for closer trade relations between all the countries of the British Empire, which will result in a loss to the United States of several hundred millions of dollars in trade, Mexico becomes a more important neighbor," Senator Butler said.

"Mexico is rich in natural resources, largely undeveloped. Humbolt described Mexico as the treasure house of the world. At that time oil had not been discovered and its wonderful water power had not begun to be developed.

"Gen. Rodriguez made a brilliant record as governor of Lower California, that peninsular state which was little known and was not thought worth buying at the time of the Gadsden purchase. He built a great highway from one end of the peninsula to the other and made known and made available its rich resources.

"He encouraged American capital to develop its water power and mineral wealth. He not only knows Mexico and its needs, but he also knows and understands our people. We are not 'gringoes' to him, but we are friends and neighbors who can be of reciprocal help to each other.

"When Gen. Calles was crushing the last revolution against the Obregon government, he found in Gen. Rodriguez his most resourceful and valiant lieutenant. He has developed not only military genius and statesmanship of a very high order, but he has also shown himself to be a successful industrial developer.

"Gen. Calles and Gen. Rodriguez are the two outstanding men in Mexico. They are close personal and political friends, and under their wise leadership our southern neighbor has a most promising future. We are fortunate at this time in having in Mexico City such a man as Ambassador Clark, who is a worthy successor of the late, most esteemed Senator Morrow," Senator Butler concluded.

Detonators Kill Boy, 12, Carrying Them in Auto

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Theodore Zeller, 12, was killed today by the explosion of 23 nitroglycerin detonators he and two of his brothers had found while picking wild grapes.

The caps, believed to have been intended for setting off dynamite in stump blasting, exploded in the automobile in which the boys were taking them home. Theodore, who was carrying them, was killed instantly when the box was jolted against the dash of the car.

Baltimore Mortgagors Alleged to Be Bankrupt

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A suit asking the appointment of receivers for the Park Mortgage & Ground Rent Co., of Baltimore, was filed in chancery court today by Eugene F. Rodgers. The bill of complaint alleged the company was insolvent and that it had failed to pay interest due last August 10 on its notes.

The bill also alleged officers and directors of the company are identical with the officers and directors of the Park Bank, in Baltimore, which, it states, has been closed by the Maryland banking department. The business of the company, the complainant charged, has been "operated unsafely and unwisely."

FALSE FIRE-ALARM SUSPECT ARRESTED

Thirty-fifth, K and M streets northwest.

Next he enlisted the aid of the chief operator at the West exchange. It was planned that when a call was put in for the Fire Boaord from a pay station in Georgetown, the operator was to first give the number calling, then connect the party.

Yesterday No. 5 Engine Co. roared from their quarters on an alarm. Hardly had they departed than a call was received by McInerney reporting a fire at 1407 Wisconsin avenue northwest. Before the call was put through, however, the West operator informed him of the number calling.

Suspect Is Seized.

Consulting his list of pay phones, McInerney discovered the call was from a drug store at Wisconsin avenue and M street northwest, a few doors from the engine house.

Pretending not to understand the nature of the call, McInerney immediately communicated with the fire house and told Sergt. M. C. Mason to investigate. With three other firemen, the sergeant went to the drug store and found a colored man in a booth talking to the fire board.

At the Seventh Precinct police station the man said he is William E. Forman, 20, of 1227½ Duncan street northeast. He was held for investigation.

It was estimated the false alarms cost the District more than $6,000.

JEAN HARLOW COLLAPSES AFTER FACING POLICE GRILL

announcement the day before. She stopped briefly Sunday night at the Benedict Canyon home, where she and Bern resided since their marriage, July 2. Then, she said, she continued on from the studio to her mother's nearby home.

"Paul was to follow us, but he didn't come," she said. "I telephoned him and he said he was too tired and begged off. We arranged that I should stay overnight with mother. That was the last time we ever spoke."

Afflicted by Melancholia.

As she reached this point, the white-haired beauty collapsed in another burst of tears. Mayer and Silverberg hustled the detectives from the room.

Taylor said he was doubtful if Miss Harlow would be able to attend the inquest in Beverly Hills. Although a subpena was issued for her tonight, Coroner Frank Nance said that if a doctor's certificate was produced stating she was physically unable to attend, there was nothing further he could do.

The detectives learned Bern carried $75,000 life insurance but did not ascertain the names of the beneficiaries.

That Bern was afflicted by recurrent melancholia was hinted to authorities as they questioned friends in their fruitless search for a motive.

John Gilbert, prominent screen actor and best man at the Harlow-Bern wedding last July 2, disclosed that he saved Bern from possible suicide several years ago.

Queries on Suicide.

He said the film producer had one of his attacks of melancholia after the death of Barbara La Marr, beautiful screen player whom he had befriended.

"The circumstances are too delicate and too close to my heart for me to disclose," Gilbert said. "But at that time he was deeply hurt, and brooded for days. He told me, 'Should the time ever come when I believe I am no longer able to give others happiness, I will not hesitate to snuff out the candle.'"

H. A. Garrison, Negro chauffeur at the M-G-M lot, said Bern asked him a fortnight ago, while driving the producer home, "if you wanted to commit suicide, how would you do it?"

"But I don't want to," Garrison countered.

"Well, would you shoot yourself?" he said Bern persisted.

"I don't know, I never had any thoughts like that," the chauffeur replied.

Mayer said Miss Harlow may be able to return to the studios within two weeks to resume work on "Red Dust," in which she plays opposite Clark Gable. Meanwhile scenes in which she does not appear will be taken.

Autopsy Is Today.

Hollywood, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Startling by the shielded knowledge which it apparently contained, there came unexpectedly tonight to the office of Louis B. Mayer, chief production executive at the studio where Paul Bern worked, a message from Dr. Edward B. Jones, physician to Bern. Sent from Honolulu, it read:

"Understand motive. Will leave at once to testify for you and Miss Harlow if necessary."

Police revealed after the questioning of Miss Harlow that they had learned of the possible existence of a second note by Bern explaining the motive for the act. The detectives said they had been informed that four persons had seen this second message, but that they were unable to learn the identity of the four.

Another exciting episode was added to the confusion of the tragedy when it was said that Miss Harlow, bride of two months, was so overcome by the shock that she had endangered her own life Monday night in a moment of hysteria.

Still refusing to believe the tragic news, friends said she became possessed by her grief and ran wildly from a room in her mother's home, dashing toward a balcony. Only the quickness of a friend who grasped her saved the actress from plunging over the railing. Friends said it was a number of hours before she could be quieted.

An autopsy gave further indications that Bern had shot himself, powder burns being found far inside the head. Coroner Frank Nance said an inquest would be held tomorrow to find out why there was a three-hour delay in notifying authorities after the body had been found on Monday.

2 West Virginians Die in Auto Wreck

Doctor, in Reno for Divorce, and Friend Plunged From Precipice.

Coleville, Calif., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Dr. Luther C. Davis, 38, Fairmont, W. Va., physician, and Lawrence George, 23, of Beckley, W. Va., were killed when their automobile went over a cliff on a curve and plunged into the West Walker River near here last night. The two were returning to Reno, Nev., from a fishing trip.

George was killed almost instantly, while Davis died en route to a hospital in Carson City, Nev. The bodies will be sent to West Virginia. Davis had established a residence in Reno to divorce Mrs. Jessie Davis.

The death of Davis recalled that of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, also of Fairmont, in Reno last year. She was killed by falling from an automobile driven by Dr. Carl Pierre Andre, Fairmont dentist. Andre, in Reno for divorce, was charged with her murder, but was acquitted after a sensational trial which developed into an expose of Reno night life.

Scrugham Leads Race In Nevada for Congress

Reno, Nev., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—With several key counties yet to report on today's primary election, former Gov. James G. Scrugham tonight was leading Maurice J. Sullivan, Reno attorney, in the race for the Democratic nomination for representative.

Scattered returns showed Scrugham leading 1,076 to 620. The total vote was estimated at not more than 16,000.

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Sheriff E. J. Welter tonight said he had in his possession for service a warrant charging William Courtney, 40, of Alexis, Ill., with kidnaping Collette Haley, 21-year-old country school teacher.

The sheriff said Courtney was a Catholic priest "known to me personally."

Price War Perils Vast Milk Supply

Memphis Dairymen Issue Threat to Pour Out 40,000 Gallons.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—A threat to pour 40,000 gallons of Memphis' milk supply into the Mississippi River was made in a dairy price war here today.

Fred Howard, business manager of the Independent Dairymens Association, told a gathering of 150 producers that unless prices were raised by Saturday the milk will be dumped into the river as a protest. He persuaded assembled dairymen to delay a "dairymen's holiday" until after a mass meeting Friday night. At the meeting, Howard said, a committee will be appointed to confer with operators of milk plants at daylight Saturday morning.

"If the representatives are successful in negotiating a better price," he added, "the milk will be delivered to the plants. If not, the whole supply will be dumped into the river."

Neri, Italy Speed King, Dies as Plane Crashes

Desenzano, Italy, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Lieut. Neri, who flew a seaplane 430 miles an hour to exceed the world's speed record less than three months ago, was killed today when his ship plunged into a lake in flames.

The bid for a world record made last June by the ace of the Italian Air Force was invalidated by an accident in which he narrowly escaped death. Today he was traveling at moderate speed but was stunting and the plane buckled when he turned up sharply from a dive.

While in Spain, he said, he joined with five banks in organzing the Firestone Hispania Rubber Co.

FOOD PICKETS RELAX ROAD VIGIL IN IOWA

Leaders Discuss Plans for Continuing Price War at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Striking Iowa farmers relaxed their road picketing activities today while their leaders met here to discuss plans for continuing the "higher commodity price war."

In the Sioux City area some pickets remained on roads, but made no effort to enforce the embargo that has crippled the city's stockyards for a month. Produce truckers likewise experienced no difficulty in getting through the picket lines.

Near James, in Plymouth County, not far from Sioux City, nine trucks early today congregated until Sheriff Rippey and his deputies arrived to furnish safe conduct.

About 100 pickets watched the caravan move rapidly toward Sioux City, preceded by Rippey, who previously had warned the strikers that a repetition of yesterday's violence, when 250 strikers attacked 14 trucks and caused injuries to four, would result in wholesale arrests.

In Des Moines, Attorney General John Fletcher promised R. G. Rodman, Cherokee County attorney, that a State agent would be sent to Cherokee to investigate the shooting of fourteen pickets by unidentified men last Wednesday.

"Cy" Reinhart, Musician, Dies.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Cyrus "Cy" Reinhart, 57, singer and musician, died today at a sanitarium where he had been since December 3. Reinhart was a minstrel star with Al G. Field's Minstrels over fifteen years, and had numerous vaudeville engagements. Later he organized an orchestra that bore his name.

4 Unmasked Men Rob Dixie Bank of $6,000

High Point, N. C., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Four unmasked men robbed the Carolina Bank and Trust Co., of Denton, 27 miles from here, of approximately $6,000 about noon today.

Three men walked into the bank, occupied at the time only by two patrons and Baxter Carter, cashier, while the fourth man waited in an automobile near the entrance. One of the trio asked Carter to change a $5 bill and as he prepared to comply the three whipped out pistols and covered him and the two customers. They scooped up all the currency in sight and fled in the machine.

MRS. HURLEY DIES AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Wife of Former Ship Board Chief Dies in Chicago; Daughter Bruised.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Mrs. Edward N. Hurley, wife of the war-time chairman of the Federal Shipping Board, was killed in an automobile collision today.

She was motoring into the city from her suburban estate at Wheaton, where she recently entertained Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the late President, and her friend of war days in Washington.

The car, driven by Mrs. Hurley's son-in-law, William A. Ryan, was struck by an Illinois Central freight train at a crossing near Berkeley, a suburb. The collision threw Ryan and his wife from the car, but crushed Mrs. Hurley's chest and pinned her into the wreckage. She died half an hour later in Westlake Hospital in Melrose Park.

Her husband, a coreceiver for the gigantic Middle West Utilities Co., arrived at the hospital three minutes after his wife died.

Their daughter, Mrs. Helen Mary Ryan, suffered only from shock and bruises, but her husband's shoulder was dislocated.

Ryan said a fringe of trees prevented view of the train. County police said they found the warning bell at the crossing in working order.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurley were married in 1905, five years after the death of his first wife, Julia Keeley Hurley. His second wife was the daughter of John D. Amberg, of Chicago. She was 46 years old.

Mrs. Hurley was active in society and Catholic charities.

REPUBLICANS HAIL PLEA OF COOLIDGE

to make at least one speech before the election.

The present magazine article represents Coolidge's second pronouncement on the election. He urged a Republican return to power in a similar magazine article a few months ago. It lacked, however, the praise of Mr. Hoover which the reader found in the second.

Coolidge's entrance into the campaign—even though by way of a magazine article—cleared up one of the big question marks of the present battle.

The other is a Democratic worry and revolves about Alfred E. Smith. The 1928 candidate is to write an article for the Saturday Evening Post later, in which he will present the Democratic side of the argument. What Democrats would like to know is what, if anything, he will say of his former friend, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate.

Republicans are equally interested in what Smith will have to say, for they are encouraging the apparent rift between the two as a help in carrying New York State. The example for this type of political sharpshooting was set by the keen-witted Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, in a recent Republican campaign speech.

Coolidge's message was very nicely timed to coincide with the opening of the final stretch of the campaign which usually follows Labor Day. It comes on the eve of primary elections and conventions in eleven States, in which the fate of some administration stalwarts are at stake.

It was circulated also on the eve of the election in Maine next Monday, in which both parties are striving for a forecast of the November result, and came at the beginning on the same day of Roosevelt's parade through the West.

Republicans count heavily upon the Coolidge influence among the business men and financial leaders who still connect him with the prosperity they enjoyed in his administration.

TRADE EDITORS SEE BUSINESS ON MEND

115 Publications in Nation Make Surveys; Better Spirit Noted.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Further bright spots on the economic horizon appeared in the last half of August, according to reports from editors of 115 trade and industrial publications throughout the United States.

The consensus, as recorded by the Associated Business Paper, Inc., of New York, was that "business for the last half of August averaged a shade better than in the preceding fortnight."

The editors reported building construction for the last two weeks of August showed a number of large public enterprises starting, but private building had not yet responded to the encouragement of easier financing and low costs.

Steel Industry Status.

In the steel industry, it was said, inquiry and sales of raw materials were active while interest in finished products lagged, thus reversing the sequence that followed the 1921 depression. Oil refineries had heavy orders for domestic fuel oils, stocks were lower and prices higher, and gasoline consumption almost equaled that of 1931.

Sales of automobiles, in some instances, were declared to be ahead of those in July; prices of lead, copper and zinc were steadily srengthening, business in the chemical division exceeded that of July for the first time in several years and activity in the glass, enamel and pottery categories continued to advance.

The editorial investigators were particularly impressed with the betterment of the textile markets, where a healthy improvement in business was seen with prices of cotton, silk, wool and rayon again moving up slightly.

Department Stores Exception.

It was added, however, that department stores have thus far felt no definite benefit "because retail prices remain ridiculously low." The retail outlook, it was pointed out, is not expected to show any great improvement "until consumers find more money in their pockets, and that may be three months away, or longer."

The publishers stated that advertising volume was running about level in some classes of media, with increases less than seasonal in others, and indications that the low point in volume had been passed.

That business generally has been taking heart was said to have been apparent in reports from hotels in Northeastern and Midwestern States, which stated an increase in commercial travel was apparent. Restaurant revenue was also said to have picked up moderately.

First Phone Maker Married 60 Years

Dr. Watson and His Wife Celebrate Anniversary in New Hampshire.

Bridgewater, N. H., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Dr. Thomas A. Watson, who constructed the first telephone in a hot garret in Boston, in 1875, yesterday observed his sixtieth wedding anniversary—still convinced no new invention could so "stir the public."

Quietly marking the day with Mrs. Watson and their five grandchildren, the children of Dr. Milton C. Wintermitz, of Yale University, he readily recalled the incidents of his collaboration with Alexander Graham Bell, which was climaxed by the first telephonic message: "Mr. Watson, please come here, I want you."

Mrs. Watson, who was Elizabeth Seaver, was born in Cohasset, Mass., 75 years ago. The doctor was born in Salem, Mass., in 1854. When Dr. Watson was 13 he found work in the electrical shop of Charles Williams at Boston. There the telephone was born and underwent a good deal of its early development.

$500,000 Is Sought By Tunnel Victims

Workers and Executors Hold Silicosis Caused by Sand Inhaled.

Fayetteville, W. Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Damages totaling almost $500,000 have been asked in Circuit Court here for death, injury or sickness which plaintiffs contend resulted from working on the giant diversion tunnel of the New Kanawha Power Co. aat Hawk's Nest near here. The damages are asked in 23 suits filed against Rinehart and Dennus, of Lynchburg, Va., contractors on the project.

The contractors in boring the tunnel to divert waters of the new river into a hydro-electric plant removed great quantities of silica sand, known as glass sand. The plaintiffs allege the workmen contracted silicosis, disease of the lungs caused by breathing fine sand particles.

Of 23 suits filed, 17 are by workmen who contend they suffered permanent disability from the disease. The other six are by executors of workmen who, the executors claim, died of silicosis. The suits for permanent disability are for $25,000 each and for death $10,000 each.

The Business Upturn

Thousands of Workers Are Called Back to Jobs as Production Is Speeded in Number of Lines; Wilmington Mills Raise Employes' Pay.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Pittsburgh—The Carnegie Steel Co. reported that it was operating at 16 per cent of capacity, compared with 11 per cent at the first of last week and 15 per cent at the end of the week.

Chicago—L. C. Harbison, president of the Household Finance Corporation, said a survey of loans made by his company through its Chicago and branch offices in 91 other cities showed that during the first six months of 1932 the number of borrowers, the total loaned, and the average loan were all smaller than during the same period in 1931.

Toledo, Ohio—Labor in this city went back to work in force. The Willys Overland plant reopened, giving work to 4,300 men, and numerous smaller factories also resumed operations.

New York—Steelworks and railroads have appreciated approximately $2,500,000 in the recent rise in scrap steel prices, the magazine Steel said, pointing out that about 2,000,000 tons of scrap are held by such establishments.

Waukegan, Ill.—Three hundred men soon will be given employment in the plant of the Echophone Radio Mahufacturing Co., its president, Arthur T. Haugh, said.

Detroit—A large number of workers returned to jobs with the reopening of the main plant of the Ford Motor Co.—the exact number not being disclosed. Company officials said only former employes are being given work now and that more gradually will be added.

Wilmington, N. C.—The Spofford Mills, Inc., has granted its 296 workers on full time employment a 10 per cent pay increase, effective September 12.

WATER RATE 3 TIMES ITS COST IN SUBURBS

tually receives $126. Of this amount, $44 is the cost of production, $30 for maintenance of the water system, $11 for maintenance of the sewer system, $15 for engineering and clerical expenses, and $7.50 for lowering and replacement of mains. The balance between the receipts and the disbursements is applied to interest on the sinking fund.

Method of Fixing Charge.

All the figures quoted are embodied in the operating accounts of the commission. Against this account are $750,000 in bonds.

This consumption charge, which to the average taxpayer is 22 cents a 1,000 gallons, represents the actual cost of maintaining the water mains and sewers, plus a part of the interest and sinking fund requirements on the investments in the filter plants and pumping stations.

It is arrived at by annually taking the aggregate cost of power for pumping, labor, repair and upkeep, superintendence and maintenance and dividing the aggregate by the total number of gallons pumped for the year.

Profit Comparisons.

Again taking the comparative cost for a given quantity of water in the District and in the commission area, that is, the respective costs of $8.75 and $11.32 for 56,000 gallons, the following angles develop:

Making allowances for water furnished free to fire departments, municipal buildings, &c., and using the commission's net rate of 12.6 per 1,000 gallons, the net receipts for such a quantity would be $7.05.

But the District rate of $8.75 includes everything, including the cost of the water to the District, depreciation charges, distribution, filtering and pumping, maintenance and repairs of mains, superintendence and labor, meter reading, and meter maintenance.

The only item which is not included in the District rate is the sewer maintenance, which is included in the sanitary commission consumption figure. On the other hand, the sanitary commission has a fixed rate for service charges which includes meter reading, &c., for which there is no charge in the District.

$16,080 District Price.

These figures will be analyzed and compared in a later article.

During the last fiscal year the District sold 229,725,000 gallons to the sanitary commission at rates of $65 and $75 a million gallons. Using an average of $70 a million gallons, the cost to the sanitary commission was $16,080. On the basis of the consumption rate to the average consumer, that is, 22 cents a thousand gallons, the aggregate selling price was $50,539.

The sum leveled against the consumers on the basis of the 22 cents per 1,000 gallons is $34,458 in excess of the actual price paid by the commission to the District government.

Summer Supply.

An indication of the amount of water furnished by the District during normal summer months follows: Week of July 16, average gallons a day from the District, 381,000; maximum pumpage a day from the District, 902,000; maximum gallons pumped a day from both the District and the sanitary commission plant, 6,323,000.

During the week ended August 6 the District pumped an average of 286,000 gallons a day; a maximum pumpage of 940,000 gallons; and there was a maximum daily pumpage of 5,352,000 gallons from both the District and the sanitary commission system. The average daily pumpage from both systems for the week was 4,850,000.

During the last two weeks, however, in which the demand greatly exceeded the production capacity of the commission's plants, the District has been furnishing approximately 75 per cent of the water consumed daily.

and may begin to function the latter part of this week, it was said.

The corporation may lend up to $1,500,000,000 on self-liquidating enterprises. Only new construction will be financed and no loans will be made to refinance or refund the financing of projects already constructed.

These loans are primarily directed toward relieving the unemployment situation. It was understood yesterday that among the loans receiving careful consideration are those for construction of a bridge across San Francisco Bay and a Los Angeles water works project.

TOBACCO PRICES UP IN NORTH CAROLINA

1932 Sales Season Opens With Growers Crowding Roads.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Old King Tobacco made his annual ascent today to the agricultural throne of North Carolina, accompanied by prices double those of 1931, and indications the golden weed will mean a harvest of golden dollars to the growers this year.

Nineteen tobacco markets in the new bright belt of North Carolina, including Greenville and Wilson, the two largest bright leaf markets in the world, opened their 1932 sales season today.

Farmers who were downcast last year smiled today as they listened to the machine-gun voices of sweating, shirt-sleeved auctioneers, who moved up and down rows of tobacco baskets on the great warehouse floors, selling to buyers the first of the State's greatest money crop this year.

Acreage Reduction.

In sharp contrast to the 4 and 6 cent tobacco of 1931 opening day were the average prices of 10, 12 and 14 cents paid on the same markets today.

Higher prices are the result of drastic acreage reduction, curtailed either voluntarily by growers who wearied of overproduction and low prices or by the effects of drought and insects. Another factor is the increased domestic and foreign demand for tobacco.

Lower grades pointed the way today toward higher prices for 1932.

Several million pounds of weed either were on warehouse floors when markets opened, or were hauled there over highways crowded with every kind of vehicle from a giant truck to a horse cart.

Quality Fair.

The Wilson market had offerings today of almost 600,000 pounds, selling at an estimated average price of 13 cents per pound. Quality was fair.

Reports from other markets:

Market.	Estimated Sales.	Average Price.
Kingston	600,000 lb	12c
Washington	80,000 lb	10c and up
Greenville	650,000 lb	9½c to 10c.

This year's crop in the new bright belt is estimated at 150,000,000 pounds, a decrease of about 100,000,000 under last year.

Copper Industry Hails Further Gains in Price

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The copper industry was further cheered today by the increasing firmness of foreign metal prices. It was reported that copper sold abroad as high as 6.25 cents a pound, c. i. f. Hamburg, Havre and London.

While prices in the domestic market were unchanged at 6 cents a pound, delivered to the end of 1932, producers were indifferent sellers at this rate and somewhat higher quotations were expected in some quarters. The volume of buying continued small.

POSTAL SUBSTITUTE EMPLOYING CURBED

Brown Informs Mead That Economy Act Restricts Extra Workers.

The Postoffice Department is compelled by restrictive provisions of the economy bill to keep its Washington substitute force to a minimum regardless of hardships suffered, Postmaster General Brown yesterday informed Representative James M. Mead (Democrat), New York.

Replying to petitions filed by substitute carriers with the chairman of the House postoffice and post roads committee and forwarded to the postoffice, Postmaster General Brown held out hopes for an increase in the force with the autumn seasonal pickup in the mails.

"The department realizes the hardships suffered by substitute postal employes generally at this time as the result of the continued decrease in the mails," Mr. Brown wrote Representative Mead.

"As you know, however, it is not possible to administer the economy law in such a way as to provide any substantial additional employment for these classes of workers.

"The pay withheld from regular employes for the periods during which they are on furlough must be impounded and returned to the Treasury, and is not available for the hire of substitutes.

"Accordingly, the department is compelled, if it is to carry on the service within the limits of the appropriation for the current year, to require the furlough to be taken at times when a minimum of substitute service will be necessary. It is, of course, to be borne in mind in this connection that the summer months are normally our lightest months.

"With respect to the 8 1-3 per cent deduction from the pay of substitutes, you are, of course, familiar with the fact that this is a requirement of the law, which the department has no discretion to modify."

U.S. POLICY ON HAITI FACES MODIFICATION

State Deartment Announces Signing of New Treaty of Friendship.

(Associated Press.)

The 1915 treaty between the United States and Haiti—objected to by many in the Caribbean Republic because of the powers of administration and the military occupation given the United States—may be modified or superseded by the signing of a treaty of friendship which was announced yesterday by the State Department.

Although its details will not be made known by the department for several days, it was believed the new accord, signed by Minister Dana G. Munro at Port au Prince September 3, is intended to extend the policy of "Haitianization" which has followed the recommendations of the commission sent to Haiti by President Hoover two and ahalf years ago.

As a result of the findings of the commission, headed by W. Cameron Forbes, the American high commissioner was succeeded by the minister, and several departments of the island's government turned back wholly to Haitian administration.

The 1915 treaty, supplemented in 1917, expires in 1936. It was drawn after United States Marines were sent to Haiti to protect American and other interests. Under it the United States took over the republic's financial administration and has maintained Marines there. Minister Dantes Bellegarde here has been a leading opponent of the treaty's continuance in force.

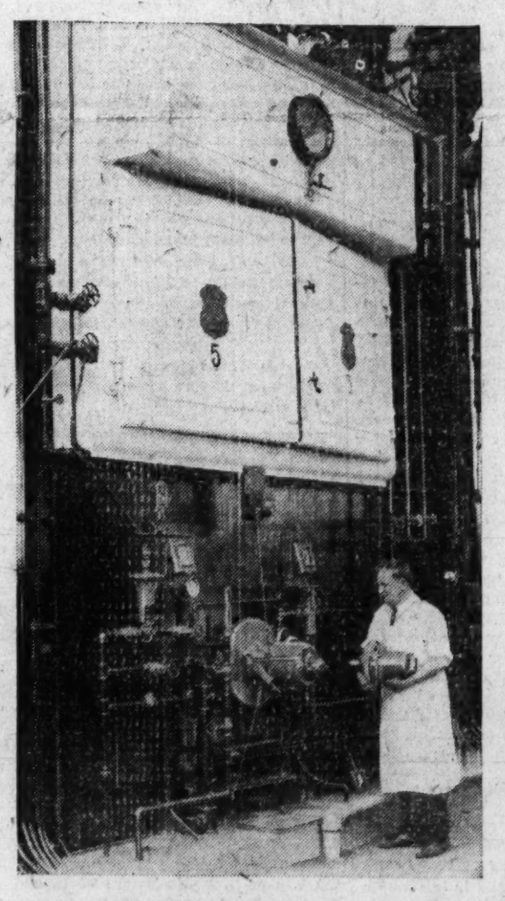
NOW..A NEW OIL BURNER FOR TIMES LIKE THESE

that will save the home owners of America millions of dollars in heating costs alone



Famous giant Petro now reduced in size for homes of 5 to 15 rooms. Provides hot water summer and winter. Special introductory price. Built by the originators of automatic oil heat.

For years, giant Petros have been heating some of the world's largest buildings ... and saving them hundreds of thousands of dollars. Costing as much as $55,000, these perfectly engineered installations were not made to save some one shoveling coal. They were bought to save money!

Lowest Prices in History

It is this same burner in junior size that you can now have in your home to give you the same degree of economy. It has every operating principle ... every important detail of design ... the same precision in manufacture and the same reliability. Yet the price is the lowest ever placed on any Petro or Nokol listed by the Underwriters' Laboratories to burn No. 3 oil. All that we have learned from our 29 years of experience in this industry and from providing automatic oil heat to more than 550,000 persons from coast to coast is now embodied in this one, simple, new burner, built especially to cut heating costs in homes of 5 to 15 rooms.

National Public Service Plan

Under this special purchase plan, your small monthly payments automatically provide complete service, all new parts, repairs and labor for as long as five years. Nothing else to pay for but oil, which is at the lowest prices in history.

Hot Water Summer and Winter

This same burner in your present heating plant with a special Petro & Nokol heating unit, gives you all the hot water you need, for kitchen and bath ... summer and winter ... at a lower cost than any other automatic system. Your local Petro & Nokol dealer has it on display.

Note the contrast—yet the similarity of these two oil burners. One, the giant Petro installed in a 300 h.p. boiler used in some of the world's largest buildings, such as the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where it saved $25,490 in 6 months. The other in the engineer's hands—the new Petro & Nokol "home size" oil burner, also shown at the right installed in a typical domestic heating plant.

Heats 5 to 15 Rooms

This new Petro & Nokol will take care of any heating load from a 5 to a 15 room house! It burns all grades of domestic fuel oil, even the cheapest, with a soft, quiet, clean, radiant flame. Radiant heat is the ideal form of heat. Like the intense heat of the summer sun. No smoke. No odor. No sound. There is but one moving part ... and with such utter simplicity you are assured of uninterrupted automatic heat in your house year after year.

"Mary, your days of furnace worries are over."
"And think, John, how much it will save us."

"THE REPUBLICAN CASE."

Former President Coolidge contributes a powerful document in support of the re-election of President Hoover. Mr. Coolidge's article in the Saturday Evening Post doubtless will be circulated by the Republican national committee in every county in the country, and it will serve as the basis for countless campaign speeches.

The former President is enabled to make an accurate estimate of the situation in which his successor has been placed. Much of the history of the Hoover administration was in the making during the last Coolidge administration. Mr. Coolidge was disquieted by the excessive speculation of 1928, and through the Federal Reserve Board he discouraged it. The Government did not possess the power then, and does not possess it now, to prevent individuals from indulging in excessive speculation. The crash was inevitable. It would have occurred under any administration.

The steps taken by President Hoover to avert social and industrial unrest, to prevent the reduction of wages, and to safeguard industry and labor are reviewed by Mr. Coolidge and are heartily approved. As the depression took on new phases as a result of foreign misfortunes the task of President Hoover became more difficult. This phase of the situation is little understood by the average citizen. Mr. Coolidge's exposition of it is very valuable, and the accuracy of his review can not be questioned.

Reconstruction work is examined in the Coolidge article. He goes into the Farm Board operations, and concludes that the farmers and planters were saved from disaster by what was done.

Mr. Coolidge is a stalwart supporter of the protective tariff. His remarks on this subject constitute the soundest of Republican doctrine. He holds that the American market should be held primarily for Americans, and adds that when foreign interests "talk about increasing our foreign trade it is not because they wish to buy more from us, but because they wish to sell more to us."

Mr. Coolidge is careful to stand upon generalities in discussing the prohibition question. He approves of the Republican platform because it upholds the principle "of retaining the benefits and reforming the abuses" of the present system. He seems to agree that the time has arrived for an expression by the States as to whether they should remain dry or legalize the liquor traffic within their own borders.

In his personal references to President Hoover and Vice President Curtis Mr. Coolidge is very complimentary. He emphasizes the training which Mr. Hoover had obtained before entering the White House, and declares that "undoubtedly he is better informed concerning the economic conditions, both domestic and foreign, than any other man in the United States."

Mr. Coolidge reminds his countrymen that defeatists in times of stress have always tried to capitalize distress in order to overthrow the American system of economics and government. "It is these forces," he remarks, "more than depression which render our condition critical." He concludes his article by insisting that "the safety of the country lies in the success of the principles of the Republican party."

In a few days former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will contribute an article in behalf of the Democratic cause. He has a pattern to follow in Mr. Coolidge's article. The country will await with keen interest what Gov. Smith has to say, because of the doubt that has existed as to his willingness to come out squarely in support of Gov. Roosevelt.

MARCH OF CREDIT.

Never in the history of this or any other country has there ever been marshaled such an imposing battle-front against depression as is seen in the various credit organizations that have now begun their active advance. Acting under the leadership of the giant Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has already distributed more than $1,000,000,000, special agencies are already at work or about ready to begin active functioning to relieve the needs of agriculture, home owners, wholesale industrial buyers of commodities and to finance great self-liquidating projects.

The plans for placing the loans for this latter purpose have been completed, and many extensive building proposals are considered. New York leads with a variety of big things it would like to start; the rebuilding of East Side slums to provide cheaper homes for the white-collar class, another Hudson tunnel or bridge to Jersey, and the building of the tri-borough bridge. New Orleans can provide work for 6,000 men for three years if her proposed belt line bridge is financed. San Francisco also has hopes now of building her great bridge across the bay. These are but samples of nearly 200 building enterprises now under consideration, which would employ many laborers and create large orders for material.

In the field of additional agricultural aid, the appointment of Fred Hovey, of Omaha, to have charge of the organization and direction of the eight regional credit corporations will speed up their actual functioning. The selection of personnel of the eight institutions is nearly completed. The policy of these new organizations is also being established, and a determination reached as to whether loan facilities can extend to wool and cotton manufacturers and to canning factories which utilize farm products under the provisions of the law relating to the "orderly marketing" of raw materials. This field is also covered by the operations just starting under the Commodities Finance Corporation, financed to the extent of $50,000,000 as preliminary capital by twenty New York banks. Altogether it seems clear that if there is any American industry that is not now in a position to secure credit it has not made its wants known.

FARM PRICES GO UP.

In withholding its wheat and cotton from sale until the marketing season for this year's crops has ended the Farm Board aims to strengthen the prices that the farmer will receive and to reduce its own losses. Despite the recent improvement in commodity prices, these staple farm crops are still selling at an extremely low level. Further improvement in the commodities markets will enhance the farmer's power to buy and to pay his debts, thus stimulating further business recovery.

The program of withholding Government cotton from the market until March 1 has been made possible through the cooperation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It is part of the general movement fostered by the administration to bring about orderly marketing of agricultural crops. Farmers are to be allowed the full benefit of short crops this year. The unusual strength of the commodities markets yesterday suggests that direct benefits to farmers will be large.

The Farm Board has been disposing of its surplus holdings in spite of the fact that prices now available are much lower than the prices at which the board purchased wheat and cotton in an effort to stabilize the market. It is a matter of general satisfaction that the board's unsold stock of wheat amounts to less than 3,000,000 bushels as compared with 250,000,000 bushels a little more than a year ago. More than 300,000 bales of cotton have been sold recently, foreign countries buying enormous quantities at low prices.

It will be a great day for agriculture when the last of these holdings are sold. Evidence shows that a stored-up surplus tends to drive prices down in an even more depressing manner than does overproduction. Realizing that its stabilizing venture was a mistake, the board has made an excellent record in disposing of its surplus commodities. When the current harvest and marketing season is over the board may be expected to resume its selling program with a view to wiping its books clear of surplus crops.

This respite in the selling campaign of the Farm Board comes at a time when it will have the least effect upon crop planting. Before the planting season begins once more the liquidation program will have been resumed and farmers will not be encouraged to sow large crops in the hope that the surpluses in the hands of the Farm Board will be indefinitely held from the market. Whatever may be said for or against the stabilization venture inaugurated by the Farm Board under pressure to do something for distressed agriculture, it is apparent that the board is extricating itself from this dilemma with prudence and sagacity.

CONTROL IN THE SENATE.

Control of the Senate after the November election is in extreme doubt. The Democrats hope to gain a majority in the Senate regardless of how the presidential election turns. Republicans in every State where there is a senatorial contest are making desperate efforts to keep the upper chamber in their control.

It is probable that the House will be Republican if President Hoover is continued in authority at the White House, and Democratic if Gov. Roosevelt wins. The complexion of that body is vitally influenced by the presidential campaigns. But in the Senate the situation is different. Only one-third of the 96 senatorial seats will be filled this year. Many of these contests will turn upon personal advantages or disadvantages of the candidates. In some cases the candidates are conducting campaigns that have no connection with the national party organizations.

Some Democratic observers claim that their party is certain to gain control of the Senate. But that prediction seems to be premature, to say the least. It is true that most of the fifteen Democrats who are seeking reelection to the upper chamber are from the South, and their return to Washington is hardly in question. But the outlook for reelecting Democratic senators in New York and Kansas does not look so bright.

On the Republican side a considerable number of party stalwarts—such men as Senator Watson, Republican leader in the Senate; Senator Jones, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Senator Smoot, chairman of the committee on finance—are up for reelection. Rumors of revolt against them and others are numerous, but the electorates of Indiana, Washington and Utah are hardly likely to replace capable men who have gained such prominent places in the Government.

Some Democrats believe that the death of Senator Charles W. Waterman, of Colorado, has opened a way for them to gain control of the Senate when the next session begins in December. With this vacancy, the Senate is composed of 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Laborite. Colorado has been veering toward the Democratic column recently, and if that State should replace Senator Waterman with a Democrat, Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, would be in a position to create a tie or to throw control into the hands of the Democrats.

In any circumstances the party division in the Senate will probably be close both in the next session and in the new Congress. Business will have to be transacted by a working coalition of conservative Republican and Democratic members, as it was in the last session. Even if the Democrats win control, it will not change the basic complexion of the Senate. Actual control of that body passed out of the hands of the regular Republican organization a long time ago, except when it has had the support of conservative Democrats in the enactment of measures for national relief.

CONDUCT OF CHARITIES.

Complaints have been heard frequently in the past that too much of the money contributed for relief of the needy has been expended on the operations of charitable organizations. Many persons who have not taken the trouble to study the problem of organized charity are willing to accept any criticism of organizations whose work is supported by public contributions. These persons indict the whole of organized charity by citing an example which may or may not, on investigation and analysis, prove that a mistake was made. Mistakes may be made daily by every charitable organization, but these mistakes do not destroy the necessity for organized charities, which merit and must have continued generous support.

Criticism has been made of the Volunteers of America, a charity organization long known to Washington. It has been charged that only a small part of the money contributed to it actually goes to relieve the sufferings of the poor. The charge was made in a report of an investigation conducted by policemen at the instance of their superior officers. The report is a somewhat fervid account of a haphazard investigation by men untrained in social welfare work, who admittedly did not go thoroughly into their subject.

Loose charges of such a character do not affect merely the particular organizaiton against which they are levelled. They tend to do harm to other organizations, and, inevitably, to individuals and families who must accept public aid.

The report does not afford the public an adequate basis for sound opinion. Neither the particular organization nor organized charity as a whole should be condemned until the public has been given the results of a sound investigation. The Volunteers of America should force such a thorough investigation as would leave no doubt as to the facts. Meanwhile the public would do well to withhold judgment.

When President Hoover refuses to fire Federal employes who differ with him he deliberately spoils a good campaign yarn.

Joe Nutt and Frank Walker probably would be willing to swap campaign chests sight unseen.

A DEPRESSION LESSON

From the Texas Weekly.

The lessons learned from the depression should not be forgotten, once we are safe on the road to recovery. For us in Texas, and in the South generally, it served to bring strikingly to our attention the fact that our people are too much dependent upon foreign markets.

Taking the United States as a whole, at the very height of prosperity only 10 per cent of the country's annual production of wealth is exported. But it is necessary to find a foreign market for more than half of the South's chief product, cotton, and in Texas 90 per cent of the annual cotton crop must be sold outside of the United States. Inasmuch as nearly one-third of the population of Texas lives on cotton farms, that means that the prosperity of our people, or the lack of it, is determined by influences over which we have practically no control. We should seek to change that situation as much as possible.

We are not suggesting that we can escape from the interdependence of the nations of the world. We can not escape from it. Henceforth, because the world has become a neighborhood, and the future will make it smaller rather than otherwise, the United States will have interests at stake whenever there is economic disturbance anywhere on earth. And the interests of Texas will be a little more directly involved than those of most of the other sections of the country. But interdependence is one thing, and absolute dependence is quite another.

The last three years have served to force upon our attentions the brutal fact that entirely too many Texas people are absolutely dependent for their living upon conditions in foreign countries. It is that which we should seek to change. We say "seek" advisedly, because the problem is not a simple one. The direction in which the solution lies can be easily pointed out, to be sure, but the attainment of that solution will call for much wisdom and patient effort, and will take time.

If we are to become less dependent upon foreign countries, obviously we must become more dependent upon ourselves. If we are to do less for foreign countries, we must do more for ourselves. The direction which our effort should take is toward the positive half of that formula. We must seek to become more dependent upon ourselves by doing more for ourselves.

POST HASTE

If Germany can stage an industrial revival on the flimsy credit of tax rebate receipts valid in 1934 there should be no doubt about what this country can do with cash in hand.

Praise from Sir Hubert Coolidge is praise indeed, that makes up for the restrictions of an economy campaign.

Calvin says the President deserves reelection for what he has done and what he has prevented. A better window-dresser than Hoover might have had many less discriminating observers saying the same thing.

The most insulting thing in the campaign so far is that no one has asked what has become of the Progressives.

Minister Hanford MacNider returns to his Iowa farm. Possibly he feels that his military experience may be of value to his embattled neighbors.

It is easy to imagine that a number of the first readers of the New Outlook will not be those who have sent in their names as subscribers.

Mayor McKee used to teach classic languages, and there is danger that if he essays facetious remarks they may be all Greek to the New York that never misunderstood Jimmie Walker.

Gov. Roosevelt hedges on the "new deal" to assure the country that "change of party leadership does not strike at the fundamental principles of the Republic."

A university professor of political economy is nominated to oppose Senator Reed Smoot in Utah. Our modest wager backs the practiced veteran in this time of stress against the theorist.

Democratic spell-binders are handicapped by not being able to talk about improving conditions; it turns a speech into a boost for Hoover.

The next time if the flying Hutchinson family are in a hurry to get to Europe they will take a sailing vessel.

A New Bedford-time story from Senator George Metaphor Moses every day is a diverting feature of the campaign.

New York is still so hard up that only about 3,000,000 residents could take Labor Day trips.

It is evident that Maj. Jimmy Doolittle was given that name when he was quite young. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

KING BIRD COURAGE.

Every summer o'er fields I know
I watch the king bird chase a crow,
And the great black hulk with flapping wings
In terror flees from the tiny stings
Which his little brother, with braver heart,
Rises above him to impart.
"Go to it, midget!" I shout in glee,
"And sock him a couple of times for me!"

Now the crow is trouble. When he appears
Every little bird for her nest eggs fears.
He's a feathered bully and mean and sly
And mother birds tremble when he draws nigh.
For he robs their nests and he kills their young,
And I'm sure by none are his praises sung.
But the king bird, less than a tenth his size
Can chase him out of the summer skies.

Man, if you're worried or frightened sore
At the troubles you've had for a year or more;
If you think that your care is a dreadful thing,
And you stand afraid of what day may bring,
Don't sit and wail that you're out of luck.
All that you need in this world is pluck.
Just think, when your courage seems running low
What a king bird does to a monster crow.

If He Robs Peter to Pay Paul, Will Peter Call Him a Friend?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

HOW do you judge a friend—by what he says or by what he does?

Do you regard him as a friend if he takes money from your pocket and persuades your employer to hold out part of your wages and then uses the money to hire some fellow to work for him?

If you are a veteran, have you analyzed the "friendly acts" of the politician who says he is a friend of veterans?

Forget his words for a moment and examine figures.

The number of doughboys killed, missing and wounded was approximately 365,000. Those injured in service and the dependents of the slain deserve every compensation they receive. No decent citizen begrudges them a dollar.

But under the present law, "disability" compensation is granted to men not injured in service. If the veteran served but one day in uniform and injured his stomach by drinking poison hooch last month, he can obtain a pension for the asking.

Since the law invites men to raid the Treasury, few decline the invitation. The number of pensioners "disabled" since the war now exceeds the number injured in service. And this class of men now gets more than half of the billion-dollar pension fund, though many of its members are big-town policemen and thousands of others hold down good jobs in the civil service or private life. Their number is increasing at the rate of 10,000 a month.

If you are one of these, you may find it easy to believe that the politician who provided this easy money is your friend.

But the total number of pensioners, deserving and undeserving, is approximately 1,000,000, while four times that many were in uniform.

One in each four draws a pension. The other three, being uninjured or ashamed to graft, receive no cash as a result of the politician's friendship.

But they are affected by it.

The politicians who use public money to buy votes must levy taxes to get the money. If you are one of the three, you help pay the tax. Your present tax burden, direct and indirect, is 26 cents of each dollar you earn.

But that isn't all. Present high taxes and the certainty of worse to come make business afraid to expand. That costs you your job. The business man crippled by taxes must reduce costs somewhere. That cuts your wages.

Under the present law the cost of caring for veterans not injured in service will increase every year. That means your taxes will increase and your wages decrease.

Is he a "friend" who does that to you in order to hold his own job?

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

The Bonus Threat.

Brooklyn Eagle.

There is little doubt that sentiment throughout the rank and file of the legion is at this moment adverse to Mr. Hoover's campaign for re-election. Because of his consistent and courageous stand against Treasury raiding in the interest of a class he has invited reprisal from the majority of the ex-service men and their sympathizers.

It will be the business of Mr. MacNider and other men of standing in the legion to combat this vindictive sentiment to the best of their ability. They will not have an easy job. It is hard to argue with men who feel they have a grievance against the President. Sooner or later, however, Gov. Roosevelt will have to declare his position on threatened bonus legislation. If he stands, as he should, against attempts to pile an intolerable burden upon a country struggling to regain its economic footing, he will lift the bonus issue out of politics and thereby do the Nation a distinct service.

Curtis in Voredom.

Baltimore Sun.

Representative John Q. Tilson, in charge of the Eastern speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee, announces that it would be "discourteous and impracticable" to sidetrack Vice President Curtis, who has been scheduled to open the party's campaign in Pennsylvania next Saturday. Brother Tilson is "doubtful if any change can be made now." In the circumstances, it looks as if Boss Vare and his wet Republican cohorts would be compelled to make the best of an embarrassing situation.

Of course, Charlie can be counted upon to be discreet. And if the worst comes to the worst and the hecklers cannot be controlled, Charlie knows how to handle them.

Platform vs. Record.

New York Herald Tribune.

If the sale of securities and banking practice in New York have needed reform, why, asked Mr. Hurley, didn't Mr. Roosevelt give them "the kind of cleansing Hughes gave the insurance companies" instead of belatedly trying "to pass the buck to the Federal Government?"

This is an extremely pertinent question and throws into high relief the whole weakness of the Democratic position. Every promise made in the Democratic platform is contradicted by the record of the Democratic House.

Praise for Newton D. Baker.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Very much as Herbert Hoover was chosen to head relief activities in a Democratic administration in 1918, so Newton D. Baker is chosen now to head the relief machinery of the country in a Republican administration. The positions of the two men are precisely reversed. Each was chosen despite party considerations to assume a tremendous responsibility. Each has unusual executive ability and enjoys complete confidence of the country.

The President's choice of Baker to lead the relief forces this fall and winter is admirable in every way. The Ohioan is perhaps the best example in America today of a statesman who is at the service of his country in any capacity, regardless of the fluctuations of party fortunes. He has never sought political office, and likewise has never refused to serve when called. Because of this, he commands the unstinting loyalty of the American people.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Commends Americanism of Trades Union Spokesman—No Communism!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The following paragraph is from the Labor Day radio address of R. A. Dickson, president of the Washington Central Labor Union, as reported in The Post September 6. It is so timely and reassuring that I can not help asking that you reprint it in the letter column:

"While we are trades union people we are Americans first. Within our council chambers, our meeting halls and conventions we invite any constructive legislation that is in conformity with the Constitution of the American Government, but not a moment of time nor an inch of space will be given to any move that is tainted with or borders on communism."

So long as this spirit prevails in the labor organizations of the United States any doubts as to the safe future of American institutions will be groundless. Within recent years all business men whose civic viewpoint is above the level of dollars and cents have been learning that this is so. Steady progress in the direction of industrial stability will never be endangered by leaders who, like Mr. Dickson, have confidence in the blending of Federal supervision and local self-government, as properly balanced, under our Constitution. The capitalist is short-sighted who does not welcome the activity of such leaders among the toiling masses. Should that activity ever be lacking, then the reactionary capitalist will have good reason to fear the visionary experiments of communistic marplots.

Popular Prices Would Restore Popularity of Baseball, Says Old Fan.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As one who enjoys baseball and would like to see it hold its own as the great national pastime, I don't think the admission fee should be much greater than that for a neighborhood movie show. I believe 50 cents, as the highest price for general admission, with 25 and 50 cents each for a salable number of reserved seats, would be fair enough. I think that all along the line baseball would flourish as it never has before if the owners would adopt the low-price-fill-the-seats policy. Of course the high pay of star players should be cut a little, and the highest bidder purchase of stars be done away with, so as to fit in with the new deal.

As a representative of the days when every cash customer was a sunbaked fan, I hope that during the next season not only will the business office rejoice but the players themselves be pepped-up by daily increasing crowds of uproarious rooters at popular prices.

OLD POP BOTTLE.

Monkeys Are Right When They Turn Deaf Ear to Radio "Music."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a recent issue of your paper, it is stated that experts have tested our ancient ancestors, the monkeys, to find what was their reaction to music. The sweetly solemn, the martial and the jazz sort were all tried, but the monkeys showed no appreciation of any concord of sweet sounds. I wonder if the monkeys have not already discovered what not all humans have detected. The radio has about destroyed our capacity to enjoy what was once our delight—pleasure in music.

When restaurants howl with squeaks and squawks, and hotel lobbies resound with high feminine and basso profundo tones, while the night air of a sweltering city is made hideous by loud speakers, can any one be censured if he should wish that "music," as it is called, had never been invented? What a marvel the radio could have become had the commercialists not turned it into an instrument of torture and incidentally destroyed in us one of our most cherished capacities for enjoyment! But with the monkeys, I am inclined to have no reaction to so-called music, a la radio; if this be return to the primitive, make the most of it. I submit the case for judgment to the long-suffering public of our city who are compelled to suffer during days and nights of a sultry summer from music-mad patrons of the radio.

Says Impounded Dogs Are Disposed Of for Vivisection Purposes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I add a fact or two to the article which appears in your issue of September 5, entitled "Reporter Sees Life in the Dog Pound at First Hand?"

I wish to advise dog owners that another method of disposal is practiced there on many of the unclaimed dogs, owned and ownerless, which undoubtedly was not brought to the attention of the reporter. Many of the dogs are sent to the U. S. Government laboratories to be vivisected.

Under the humane laws of the District the U. S. Government laboratories have no right to vivisect animals, since they are neither "a regularly incorporated medical college, university, or scientific society."

Do not let your dog risk the torture of vivisection through failure to give him the protection of the law as afforded by tag and muzzle and an immediate trip to the pound on your own part, as soon as he is found.

A. W. O. L. MRS. ARTHUR ADAMS,
District Chairman, Vivisection Investigation League.

Drys Outnumber Wets in California but They Split Their Strength.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Republican vote in California comes pretty near showing 2 to 1 dry, and the Democratic vote is also dry. On the face of the returns, the Golden Gate State would seem to be pretty nearly 2 to 1 dry all around. Of course I do not think so, but it does show what the voters will do if the drys are not disfranchised as in Missouri and other places. The only trouble with the drys at present is their tendency to split up. On the other hand the wets are merging. J. R. BARTLETT.

BRAZIL REBELS LOSE BIG RAILROAD TOWN

Campinas Now Keypoint of Sao Paulo Defense as Federals Advance.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Capture of Mogymirim, important railroad center, by Brazilian federal troops today made the City of Campinas the keypoint of the rebel defense.

The Sao Paulo rebels were concentrating there to protect six radiating railroads which were the only remaining connections with the Ribera Opreto coffee region to the northwest. Campinas is the second largest city of Sao Paulo.

The federals claimed increasing pressure on Cruzeiro was forcing the Sao Paulo constitutionalists to shift their troops southwestward. This spurred the federal forces to hope they would celebrate the anniversary of Brazilian independence tomorrow by capturing the town.

A special holiday was proclaimed in the rebel state in observance of the anniversary.

Capture of the town of Pinheiros also was announced by the federal leaders today.

Theodore Joslin Back From 2-Week Vacation

(Associated Press.)

Theodore Joslin, one of President Hoover's secretaries, returned to his desk yesterday after a two-week vacation on the Massachusetts sea coast.

Edward T. Clark, a former secretary to President Coolidge, who took over Joslin's post temporarily, may remain at the White House in order to give one of the other secretaries a vacation. Should Clark not be needed for a relief role immediately, he plans to take a trip to New England. If he does this he probably will see the former President.

Unpaid Teachers On Duty in Illinois

Cash Still Not Available as Schools Reopen in Chicago Suburbs.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Thousands of youngsters trudged back to classrooms in Chicago suburbs today and hundreds of teachers greeted them with a cordiality tempered by thoughts of unpaid bills, empty pocketbooks, and long overdue salaries.

Teachers in Chicago proper, likewise unpaid, will not return to classrooms until next week, seven days after the usual opening date. In addition to an average of three months' salary due them from last term, there was no immediate prospect for many of the teachers being paid for services this year. In some instances, there was no cash available to purchase coal for the schools or pay overdue bills to building contractors.

Only in Cicero, scorned by the more effete suburbs for years as the headquarters of Al Capone, did the schools open with all salaries and bills paid in full.

Move to Quash Lottery Indictments Is Begun

New York, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—A move to quash the indictment against Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City and Frank E. Hering of South Bend, Ind., high executives of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, charged with violation of the antilottery law, was made today before Federal Judge Patterson.

At the reguest of the Government, argument was adjourned until Monday. The defense held that the charge of participation in operation of a lottery, charges no offense against Federal laws and that allegations of the first count of the indictment are vague.

Farmers in Northwest Complain of Rail Rates

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The plight of farmers in the interior of Pacific Northwest, from whom transportation rates take up to 33 per cent of the total they receive from wheat, was described before the subcommittee of the United States Senate committee on reclamation and irrigation here today.

Spokesmen for these farmers testified their chance to stay on the farm was in the improvement of the Columbia River for navigation.

REICH ASKS PRIVATE DEBT INTEREST CUT

Secret Parley in London Is Revealed on Vast U. S. and British Loans.

Berlin, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Secret negotiations to cut interest charges on Germany's huge foreign private debt of 8,000,000,000 marks are under way in London, it was learned here today.

A single representative is conducting the negotiations for the Reich, it was learned. He is Otto Jeidels, young and adroit partner of the huge Berliner Handels Gesellschaft, who arrived recently in London to dicker with American and British bankers in an effort to halt the drain on the Reichsbank's already seriously depleted gold foreign currency reserves.

Besides seeking to cut in interest charges on the Reich's foreign loans from about 6¾ per cent to 4½ or 5 per cent, Jeidels will seek for a postponement of repayment of the principal, it was learned.

James H. Cannon, vice president of the Chase National Bank; F. C. Tiarks, of the Schroeders banking interests, and Thomas Brand, partner of Lazards, are the American and British negotiators at the conference. It is expected here the Jeidels conversations are only a preliminary to a formal meeting on the subject, possibly at New York around October 1.

Jeidels, one of the three members of the German "standstill" committee, is acting with the consent and knowledge of the government, it was said. The conversations are in line with Chancellor von Papen's recent interview with the United Press, in which he emphasized that Germany will not unilaterally reduce interest charges on long-term foreign debts, but would enter into "friendly negotiations" with creditor countries.

It was authoritatively stated that the $2,000,000,000 foreign loans Germany is seeking improved terms on do not include the so-called Dawes loan of $200,000,000 and the $300,000,000 Young plan loan.

Virginia Official Dubious About Value of Showers

Richmond, Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—George W. Koiner, commissioner of agriculture, said today that he held only slight hope that recent showers in some sections of Virginia would prove of any appreciable benefit to either the tobacco or corn crop, since it has come "too late to be of much avail."

He found some comfort, however, in the thought that even now the dark tobacco might be helped by a good general rain, which might help late corn also.

After five years of severed relations they have decided to again recognize each other as football rivals. On December 3 they will once more engage in a finish fight like true friends and brothers.

• • • •

The generals and rear admirals brought the boys together after deciding that there is no sense having such brilliant uniforms without a chance to exhibit them where they will attract the most cameramen.

• • • •

Once more the Army will wear a black eye proudly as testimony to its deep love for the Navy, and once again a Navy man will gladly display heel prints on his cheek as illuminating evidence that the deepest friendship exists between the two branches of the service.

• • • •

Peace, perfect peace, now reigns. With the usual time out for injuries.

• • • •

The public has received the news with delight. The Army-Navy football game is one of the country's major spectacles, even if you don't see it, and the people think they are entitled to it just as much as they are entitled to the Barnum & Bailey circus, the world series and the annual charges against Jimmy Walker.

• • • •

It gave the country the chance to see for itself whether Grant was still on active duty and whether Sigsbee was still working for the Navy or not. And it gave the rotogravure sections their greatest opportunity to check up on what the well-dressed admiral and general should wear.

• • • •

The two branches haven't met in five years officially. The split was due to a contention that some of the Army football players had been at West Point since the Arnold betrayal.

• • • •

Navy men claimed that once the Army found a good line plunger he was given a life contract and not even released for war purposes.

• • • •

The Army refused to consider such criticism and seemed to hold it perfectly silly to drop a football star during his first 20 years on the eleven.

• • • •

The feeling finally led to an official severing of relations, and for the last few years the Army and Navy football engagements have been carried out only on White House orders. And the result was pretty tame. Somehow or other the boys didn't maul each other with the same fury that would be possible if they were good friends.

• • • •

But now it's all over. The pipe of peace is being smoked under the goal posts of Annapolis and West Point. And everything looks encouraging, provided the Navy doesn't ask the Army, "Do you inhale?"

• • • •

THE BIG CHANCE.

"DANGER WANTED by young man not afraid to take a chance; more hazardous the better. M 58, Herald Tribune."—The Herald Tribune.

• • • •

Would you consider standing under Jimmy Walker's window and shouting "Yoo-hoo! This is Judge Seabury!"

• • • •

EXIT.

(With a bow to Jimmy Durante.)

The hearing is rough; Oh,
Deep black are the signs;
It looks pretty tough, so
I ups and resigns.

• • • •

Had Mayor Walker been a good bridge player, he would have signaled somebody to take him out in his best suit.

• • • •

Well, Mayor Walker, resigning, announces that he will seek a fair trial by going before the people of New York for a verdict at the polls. A vindication is fairly certain, as the issue in the public mind will be merely: Is Jimmy guilty as charged or a jolly good fellow?

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

RADIO has a new device called a velocity or ribbon microphone, representing a new departure in sound pick-up. Engineers in the laboratory of the R. C. A.-Victor Company responsible for the design contend it handles sound with a fidelity never before possible and, in addition, solves a number of studio problems.

There is no diaphragm as in the majority of microphones now in use. A sensitive ribbon of duralumin is the heart of the mechanism. It pulses exactly with the sound vibrations, whether they be in the form of a whisper or a thunderous roar.

The technicians in the laboratory liken the operation of the unit to a fine mirror which does not add or subtract from the original image, but presents an exact likeness. It is built to respond uniformly to the entire audible range of sound from zero to 14,000 cycles and over, which means that all of the subtle overtones and shadings which give vitality and life to sound are faithfully reproduced to give the illusion of reality.

"Reproduction is so natural that it promises to send many of the elaborate sound-effects paraphernalia common to the radio and motion picture studios, into the discard," said a representative of R. C. A.-Victor.

MERLE ALCOCK, operatic and concert contralto, has selected "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Saint-Saens' opera, "Samson et Delilah," as her featured solo (WRC, 8 o'clock) tonight. Miss Alcock's other numbers will be Rasbach's version of "Trees," and "That Tumble Down Shack in Athlone." A "barber shop" medley of old-time songs, arranged by Frank Black, will be presented by the Revelers' Quartet.

Talks on "Your Child," by Angelo Patri, authority on child training, will be resumed over WMAL today for a period of 39 weeks. They will be presented every Wednesday and Sunday at 6:45 p. m.

A GALA Jack Frost Melody Moments concert, celebrating the beginning of the fourth year of broadcasting over N. B. C. networks, will be presented over the WJZ-WBAL network at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

In addition to Oliver Smith, the featured tenor, the guest artists will include Michael Rosenker, violinist; William Rozsa, pianist, and a mixed quartet consisting of Smith, Helen Oelheim, contralto; Kathryn Palmer, soprano, and Vernon Jacobsen, baritone. Josef Pasternack, conductor of the orchestra, will contribute a special concert paraphrase on a solo from Victor Herbert's "Angel Face," to be played by the orchestra with Rozsa at the piano.

Effective today, the concert orchestra directed by Graham Harris will be heard over the WJZ-WBAL network at 8 o'clock instead of over WRC on Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

Following is the Ruth Etting-Nathaniel Shilkret program prepared for the Music That Satisfies program tonight (WMAL, 9 o'clock):

"If I Were Only Sure of You," "Blue River" and "Voice in the Old Village Choir," Miss Etting; "Birth of the Blues" and "So Ashamed," orchestra.

GLADYS RICE, feminine star of the program on WRC at 8:30 p. m., will sing "One Kiss, One Smile, One Tear" and "No, No, No," from "It Happened in Paris," tonight. "What, No Mickey Mouse" will be sung by the Men About Town trio, and Miss Rice and the trio will close the broadcast with excerpts from "The Cat and the Fiddle."

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

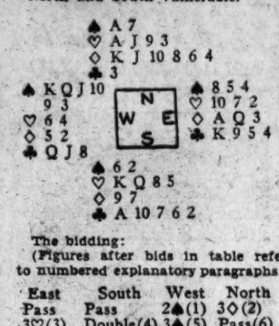
430.
IMAGINATIVE BIDDING.

WHEN four imaginative players are participating in the same game, some really remarkable bidding situations can develop. Each player will generally try to outwit his opponent, and, whether the result obtained be good or bad, it is at least almost certain to be interesting.

The other day I watched four brilliant, though erratic, players play a hand in a contract of five hearts, doubled and redoubled, after one of the opponents had opened with a two-bid and the other had bid the heart suit twice himself.

The hand in itself is of no great interest—I only record it on account of the rather astonishing bidding which took place.

East—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	2♣(1)	3◇(2)
3♡(3)	Double(4)	3♣(5)	Pass(6)
4♡(7)	Double(8)	4♣(9)	Pass(10)
Pass	5♣(11)	Pass	5♡(12)
Dbl(13)	Redbl(14)	Pass	Pass
Pass

(1) West feels that North and South have a game in the hand, and knowing the caliber of his opposition he does not think that a one spade bid will do anything to prevent North and South from reaching this game.
(2) North is actually somewhat contemptuous of this bid, but decides to feel the situation out slowly.
(3) East knows that his partner can not have a two-bid and North an Overcall with as good a hand as he has. Knowing that his partner is trying to shut out a game, he decides to bid the suit in which game is most to be feared.
(4) Knowing that the opponents are doing something very peculiar and showing partner some strength.
(5) Merely rescuing back into the best suit.
(6) Temporarily giving up control to his partner.
(7) East does not think that his first heart bid was enough to fool the opposition. Believing that if he passes, North and South will certainly reach four hearts, he rebids the three-card suit with the intention of rescuing back to four spades when doubled.
(8) South does not expect the Double to stay in, but there is no point in allowing non-vulnerable opponents to play a hand undoubled.
(9) Deciding not to wait until partner rescues.
(10) Still leaving the decision to partner.
(11) South feels that the hand should contain a game somewhere and is unwilling to take a small set.
(12) North knows that his partner holds hearts, and consequently East's bid must be a fake. Naturally North is also somewhat annoyed at the persistent defensive measures of East and West.
(13) East has now succeeded in accomplishing what he attempted—his bidding has really doublecrossed the opponents, as it has led them to believe that they hold more than they actually do. This is really the principal benefit which is derived from psychics. East must double to prevent his partner from going to five spades.
(14) Thoroughly exasperated by this time and feeling that the hand can not be down more than one trick.

In the play the spade was opened and declarer could not avoid losing two diamonds and a spade. The bid was not bad, as it was dependent upon the location of the diamond honors. However, the tactical offensive carried on by East and West was very effective in driving North and South too high. Incidentally, four spades doubled can only be defeated two tricks.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A delightful fall coat in green woolen "diago" is trimmed strikingly with a pelerine and volants of black galliac. (Courtesy the Maison Heim, Paris.)

HAVE some good news for the home body today—if she makes or has made her own frocks. The wider widths of materials are slowly but surely coming in.

First everything was a yard wide, then fabrics became almost universally forty inches wide, with a very few procurable in 54. I mean in silks of course—woolens have always been easy to find in the wider widths.

Now a new width has come in, sixty inches, and the same materials are made in 40 and 60 inch widths. Not necessarily for economy, but for facility in cutting the tricky cuts that are so stylish nowadays, let alone the need for this much width in the wrap around skirt for daytime wear that is so important in the fall mode.

True, it is mostly the manufacturer who profits by this wider material, but the home dressmaker can select a material that she likes in a wider width and ask her store to try to get this wider one for her. Shortly, however, she will find the wide width material easy to find and buy, and much, much easier to handle.

We've had enough trouble with the silver standard—and now, awful news, the gold standard is off, too!

But don't have a couple of cat fits, dahr-linga, 'tis not of money I speak, but of lame. (lah-may) Just that silver lame is more important for fall than it has been, as gold has been favored for many seasons now. The reason is obviously that silver lends itself much, much better to white than gold—and since white still leads all others in an evening color, well—there you are!

A new fall dress that is actually four dresses in one! That's what this week's leaflet is all about—and what you should have, too, hard times notwithstanding. Because the cost of the dress or dresses, really, which is what they are, is nothing compared to the value to your morale of having this particular frock in your wardrobe. 'Tis a coat dress, too, and has the best lines, and the smartest air of anything you could find anywhere. And, those four changes, each of which looks like a completely different and new dress—well, can you wait a single minute to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for it? The leaflet, not the dress! 'Nif you aren't just up to making it for yourself, all you have to do is to send the design to any dressmaker.

Have you seen how jewelry has gotten into the bag wolid? The jewelry in bracelets, now, hangs the bag on Miladi's arm, and thereby hangs a tale—or a bag, rather. I sketched this idea in the little sketch today.

More individuality in colors—is the fall prediction. Why? Because for ever so many slightly technical reasons, the fabric manufacturers are stocking large quantities of white—so that they can dye it the color that the dress manufacturer wants. Interesting, isn't it?

And Heim, of Paris, sends us a "croquis" of a fall coat in green "diago," which is a wool—and trims the coat in black galliac in a most unusual manner—skirt volants and a pelerine. I sketched it for you today!

Au Revoir.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

THE ECLIPSE AND THE EYES.

OBSERVING the eclipse was a favorite outdoor sport on the last day of August. The ordinary man who made any preparation for taking a look did not go beyond smoking some glass through which he was to take a peek. Those who did not want to use smoked glass got out their variously tinted automobile goggles. Whether a person used one or the other, the common experience was that the eyes would not stand looking directly into the sun until the face thereof was pretty nearly obscured by the moon.

That smoked glass is of some service in protecting the eyes can be accepted. When the air is obscured by smoke it is an established fact that certain parts of the sun rays are completely filtered out. The part filtered out is that which, on the one hand, when it falls on the skin is most beneficial in producing vitamins while, on the other, it is most harmful when it strikes the visual purple of the retina.

However, not even smoked glass was found to be complete protection to the delicate seeing curtain of the eyeball when the sun was shining bright. Those who used their variously tinted automobile goggles found them even less efficient than smoked glass. The ordinary, inexpensive blue glass, amber glass, or other tinted glass used in this type of goggles are not based on scientific principles and they are of very limited service. There is no part of the body machinery that equals the rods and cones, the visual purple—the seeing part of the eye—in delicacy of anatomical arrangement and in chemical balance.

A beam of light is a compound. Some parts of it have one action, some another. The physicists have worked out many facts about the qualities of the different parts of the ray. They know just how to filter out certain parts for one purpose and other parts for other purposes. They know how to build goggles, or glasses, which will take out the parts which harm the rods and cones of the retinas. Welders use glasses built for that purpose as a necessary protection. If they did not they would be blinded in short order. If eclipses came every day, goggles for eclipse observers would be on the market and, using them, we could look in the face of the naked sun and not pay for it by being blinded.

I presume within certain limits glasses can be colored scientifically so as to afford far more protection to the eyes than those we now make use of. The Eskimo is said to avoid snow blindness by squinting his eyes almost shut and also, at times, by wearing something like blinders, with a very narrow, horizontal slit through which he looks out over the snow. Men who live where the sun glare is very bright, or in other countries where the snow glare is blinding, generally have radiating crow's feet wrinkles at the outer corners of the eyes, the result of habitually squinting the eyelids to make a very narrow fissure.

Old-fashioned glass blowers had the same facial expression due to squinting to protect the eyes when they watched the ball of molten glass. In spite of doing that, glass blowers had more than their share of cataract. Perhaps some day glass blowers, furnace tenders, and others who must look into very bright lights will wear scientifically constructed goggles as welders now do.

In India and Egypt the natives have an inordinate prevalence of cataract. Some day they or their government may think it cheaper for them to wear scientifically protective goggles than it is to pay for the incapacity and poverty caused by cataract.

MAY BE ARTHRITIS.

R. W. writes: I have a pain in the left hip bone at the top. It sometimes strikes down the left thigh. I feel it most after working hard, but not so bad during the time I am working. The worst time is when I sit down after work. Sometimes I can not get up and stand straight without a lot of pain, but after a little exercise it goes away. When I go to bed I don't feel it until I want to move. I have had lumbago several times. Is that the cause of it?

REPLY.

You should have X-rays of your lower back, pelvis and hips. My guess is that you have a chronic arthritis located somewhere in this region and that the arthritis caused your lumbago, sciatica and whatever else your disorder has been called.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

When the old adage about "the way to a man's heart" is quoted, people are apt to mean cake. The old-fashioned mother saw to it that her daughters knew how to make a good layer cake, with loaf cakes and cup cakes as corollary products. A talent for cake-making—or good training in this field—can be displayed to advantage on many occasions. Think of the opportunities to regale the afternoon or evening visitors with a beverage and a tempting piece of layer cake; of the cake that graces the lunch or supper table, that is passed with ice cream at Sunday dinner, or packed into the automobile picnic basket; of the cake-making fame that is built up through the church bazaar or the community banquet.

Leaving aside ulterior motives, any woman can justifiably pride herself on her skill in cake-making. Good cake is wholesome and contributes valuable food constituents to the diet. But in these thrifty times nobody wants to risk a cake failure by hit or miss methods. Mixing ingredients carelessly without using accurate measures and making level measurements is probably the most frequent cause of poor results, say the food specialists of the bureau. Wrong measurements change the proportion of the ingredients and often make a cake crack open or fall or otherwise behave disappointingly.

Reliable recipes that have been tested and standardized give the list of ingredients (usually in the order in which they are mixed), in accepted measuring units which are always level. Older recipes used to call for "heaping teaspoons," "butter the size of an egg," "flour enough to roll" and so forth. Up-to-date recipes specify so many teaspoons and tablespoons, and so many cups or fractions of a cup.

A standard cupful is an exact half-pint. The old china tea cup without a handle probably holds several tablespoonfuls less than this. Better check up on the cup you are using. It's handy to have measures in both one and two-cup sizes. All measuring cups should be marked off to show half, quarter and third cups. Good measuring cups on the market are made of aluminum and glass. Heat-proof glass will hold hot foods without cracking.

Sixteen standard level tablespoons make one standard cupful. Does the large spoon you use when tablespoons are called for check with this correct standard? The rule for teaspoon is three level teaspoons to one level tablespoon. To use a measuring spoon, fill it full, then level it off with a knife or spatula. If you need a half spoonful divide the spoon lengthwise, unless you have one of the handy sets of measuring spoons that include the fractional sizes.

It's never hard to measure dry ingredients or liquids. To get an exact amount of fat, take some out of the refrigerator some time before you need it and let it soften a little at room temperature. Pack it firmly into the cup with no air spaces. To measure a fractional amount of fat—say, half a cup—fill the measuring cup half full of water and add fat little by little until the water is exactly at one cup level. Then pour off the water and you will have a correct half cup of fat. Any fraction of a cup may be similarly measured.

Flour packs down easily. It must be sifted before measuring into the measuring cup, and the cup then leveled off with a knife without jarring or shaking the flour down. Or you can fill the cup with the sifted flour by spoonfuls lightly. Never dip the cup into the flour and never shake the flour down or you'll get too much. These are the little things that are important to success in cake-making. There are many others, of course, such as the method of mixing, which is fully described in a good recipe, and the baking temperature and time, which should also be given. To be sure of uniform results, however, accurate measurement is essential.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Voice Cultivation Important Feature in Hollywood.

CALIFORNIA . . . "God's country" . . . I could go back there and remain there forever. I loved every minute of my stay there, which was actually many, many weeks, but now that I am back in New York, it seems like a swift, short dream. The country is beautiful, Hollywood particularly fascinating, and the business of studying the stars and their beauty rites is most interesting.

The beautiful voices of most of the film stars made a deep impression on me. I happened to mention this to one of the directors, at a party. He smiled, knowingly, and volunteered the information that the talkies have done wonders for Hollywood voices. Not that the screen luminaries did not have lovely and lady-like voices before that, but with the advent of talking pictures, such exacting demands were made that voice cultivation became a very important feature in Hollywood.

Beautiful Speaking Voice Important to Every Woman.

A beautiful speaking voice is an asset to every woman, no matter what her walk in life. In the home, in the office, a restful, pleasant voice is a joy to all around her.

Nancy Carroll tells how one afternoon at a tea she was attracted to a woman whose natural beauty was mediocre and whose costume was modest, but whose voice was an instrument of charm. There were more brilliant conversationalists in the room, but by the sheer beauty of her voice she held the attention of the small group with whom she was chattering. Near her was a lovely young girl. That is, she was lovely until she began to talk and laugh. It seemed as though she tried to drown out everyone else, her high pitched, rasping and artificial voice was so annoying it offset every bit of beauty the girl boasted.

Opera divas may be born gifted. We can not all have musical voices. But we can cultivate pleasant speaking tones. The best way to test your voice is to stop to listen to yourself occasionally.

Are you falling into the habit of speaking in unnatural, loud tones? Is your voice nervous, high-pitched, do you speak very slowly or very rapidly? Extremely rapid speech is a nervous defect. Calm yourself. Say to yourself: Slowly, slowly, now. Try to pitch your voice. If your voice doesn't carry, if the ends of sentences seem to fade, practice pitching your voice and reciting to someone across the room. Humming and singing are excellent to bring out the musical qualities of your voice.

Remember that your voice is the key to your personality. I could recognize the little, throaty voice of Marlene Dietrich or Joan Crawford anywhere, and I can still hear the pleasant, ringing resonance of Madge Evans' cultivated voice. One way to enhance one's beauty appeal is via a lovely voice.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. from 11:15 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. The danger periods are from 2 p. m. to 3:40 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

On September 7 the Fates will have difficulties in store for certain groups of people, such as: housekeepers, food venders, church workers, attorneys and journalists. Weird dreams and premonitions may be unsettling to the mind. Few material advantages shown, although social benefits may be received.

The child born on this September 7 will have few lazy bones in its body, and will have a wideawake, attractive personality. It will be strong willed without being too obstinate, and will appreciate and listen to reason. It will be capable of putting up a good fight, if its toes are pinched too hard; otherwise it will generally be amiable.

Your two best qualities, if born on September 7, are cheerfulness and resolution. You do not pray for a "chance," or "a spot of luck," but roll up your sleeves and get to work. You have faith in self, faith in your ideas, and faith in your associates. You prove to the world that if faith can not move mountains, harnessed with industry, it can bring success to the man or woman who has this valuable virtue.

You have great respect for the advantages of education, and believe in as much self-improvement as is convenient and possible. You worship, if anything, too much at the feet of intellect and have too little patience with those who can not help being stupid. You are very critical, and your criticisms are not always constructive ones.

The influences at the time of your birth favor occupations connected with travel, governmental work, or literary efforts. Your memory is very strong and reliable and seldom "tricks" you with its records. It can not be denied that popularity and a desire for fame are prompted by your large "bump" of vanity, and it hurts you very much when life lets you down a notch. You are naturally affectionate, and capable of being a very constant and romantic lover. Your friends must be interesting and lively.

Successful people born on September 7:
Queen Elizabeth.
J. Pierpont Morgan, banker.
Edmund M. Holland, actor.
Ferdinand V. Hayden, geologist.
Joseph S. Hubbard, astronomer.
Silas H. Herring, safe inventor.

The office of the Alexandria High School is registering all new students as well as those who attended the summer school and wish to change the courses registered for last spring which were taken in summer school.

The school authorities have stated that as schedules have been made out for all students who attended last year, there can be no adjustments for those who have no good reason for making a change in the classes which have been requested by them and to which they have been assigned.

Students who will attend the West End building, as well as those in the main building, have been advised to report to the latter building between 9 and 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Those expecting to enter high school from the Jefferson School may report to the office of their principal between 9 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., either today or tomorrow.

It is announced that first-year students who live near the West End building will be assigned to that building, rather than the main building.

The Young Democrats Club of Alexandria will meet Wednesday, September 14, instead of September 7 as heretofore announced, in the office of James Reece Duncan, for the purpose of electing a chairman and chairwoman from the First and Second Wards of the city, and all persons living in those wards who are desiring of joining the organization have been invited to attend. Meetings of the other four wards will be held later at the call of the president, Mr. Duncan.

Outstanding Merit in Gunnery Practice Elicits Secretary's Letters.

(Associated Press.)

The Secretary of the Navy yesterday sent letters of commendation or recognition to three Virginia officers for "outstanding merit" in gunnery practice during the 1931-32 competition year. They were:

Maj. James E. Davis, Marine Corps, of Richmond, a member of observation Plane Suadron 9-M, First Brigade Marines, Haiti, which won the gunnery trophy.

Lieut. Comdr. Samuel H. Hurt, of Blackstone, commander of the U. S. S. Heron, which won the gunnery trophy, patrol vessel class. The Heron is an aircraft tender in the Asiatic fleet.

Lieut. George E. Fee, of Suffolk, engineer officer on the submarine S-34, which won first prize for greatest improvement in engineering.

Carnegie Steel Output Reaches 16 Per Cent

Pittsburgh Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The Carnegie Steel Co., leading subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation in this district, today reported its output is 16 per cent of capacity.

A week ago Carnegie mills began work at 11 per cent and increased their schedules to 15 per cent by the end of the week. The National Steel Co. also reported a slight advance in operations.

Man Held In Father's Death.

Pearisburg, Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The body of James Carter, 65, shot through the heart, was found late last night by Sheriff C. M. Camper, on Doe Creek Mountain, near here, and Howard Carter, 35, a son, is in jail awaiting preliminary hearing Wednesday morning in an effort to clear up the tragedy. The son is said by the sheriff to have admitted that he fired through the door of his dwelling, near Hodge's store, when some one knocked, but he did not know who was there.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THOSE faithful followers of the theater who are inspired by the imminence of the new talking screen version of "The Bird of Paradise," coming to RKO-Keith's, to some such secret reaction as "Oh, so they are bringing THAT old chestnut back again, eh?" had best wait until they know what they are reacting about!

Dolores Del Rio.

A small and attentive audience that previewed this picturesque and pretentious subject last Saturday midnight found little save the barest skeleton of the story to remind them of the Richard Walton Tully stage production that introduced Lenore Ulric to stellar eminence, served as a congenial vehicle for Bessie Barriscale and later was played by a long succession of aspiring actresses of varying degrees of pulchritude and proficiency.

In the RKO-Radio picturization of the famous story, directed with a flair for flamboyant effect by King Vidor, the entire action of the drama has been centralized and concentrated, with a wealth of scenic magnificence, in the taboo love affair between Luana and the white man. All the other characters are subordinated to places of minor significance and the pseudo-philosophical discussion of the racial differences foredoomed the match to failure has been almost entirely eliminated. What remains is a simple, direct and slightly implausible drama of a boy and a girl in love, with only an occasional emphasis upon the native superstitions that played so important a part in the stage play.

In other words, instead of the familiar Tully play, those who view the picture will find themselves confronted by a colorful and largely rearranged recital of events in which the psychological has been almost wholly submerged in the physical.

Further than this, "The Bird of Paradise" will not be reviewed until a more propitious time, although I think it may with propriety be said that in the character of the South Sea maiden, Luana, Dolores Del Rio has hit upon a role to which her Latin attributes and endowments are peculiarly adapted. She looks and acts the part a great deal more convincingly than a great many who played it successfully on the stage—barring, of course, the intense and seductive Miss Ulric, who back in those remote years, I believe, still spelled it Ulrich. If any deficiency is to be found in Miss Del Rio's performance—and I do not say there is—it must be charged to the adapters rather than the actress.

In this connection I can not refrain from the thought that the present version of the play that introduced Hawaiian music to the American stage and was such a prime favorite for so many years might well be sold under the familiar slogan of "Everything new but the title!"

So somewhat tardily we come to the note from a lifelong devotee of the theater, former actor and present resident of Washington, whose eagle eye frequently catches items that all others miss. To wit:

"Dear Nelson: Variety reports the death of Bessie Sanson, aged 55, blonde comedienne, wife of Frank Daniels.

"I wonder how many people remember her? I admired her in 'Little Puck' in the early 90's. I am not sure that she has appeared on the stage in this century. Do you remember her?

"I always enjoyed Daniels. It appears she stayed married to him something like 40 years. I do not recall that she appeared with him in the Herbert operettas. Just now I am humming 'Starlight,' which Daniels sang and Herbert composed. You recall Mr. Osgood, so long press man at Keith's? He told me he wrote the lyrics of 'Starlight.' Yours.

(Signed) J. S. McFADDEN."

No, Mac, I seem to have been out the day Bessie Sanson was on. But Frank Daniels, of course, was always one of my strongest weaknesses, as far back as "The Idol's Eye" and as recently as "Sergeant Brue," at the Columbia, with Blanche Ring featured member of the cast and singing "On a Saturday Afternoon" and "Rings on My Fingers, Bells on My Toes."

And the late Whitman Osgood, as you will recall, went well back of the present Keith Theater to a long term of service as publicity man for P. B. Chase, when Winifred DeWitt was manager of Chase's Theater, now the vacant lot in front of the new Commerce Building, of which I was speaking here no longer ago than yesterday.

Drop around some time and we'll split a bottle of library paste, or something!

When Phil Lampkin returns to the conductor's stand at Loew's Fox on Friday, he and the orchestra will resume their spirited rendition of the "Orpheus" overture, which was begun the week Herb Williams was here but discontinued by reason of the excessive length of the bill.

Dorothy Jordan, that diminutive and delightful young actress appearing on the screen with Will Rogers in "Down to Earth," at the Palace, and to be seen next week with Phillips Holmes in "70,000 Witnesses," at the Fox, was a brief caller in the Capital yesterday evening. Arriving by plane at 5 p. m., Miss Jordan left by train an hour or two later to enjoy a fortnight's vacation in Virginia. At the end of that time she plans to spend a week in Washington en route to New York for a little fall shoplifting and a few shows.

Bonny Scotland will have her innings at the Rossdhu Castle on Saturday night of this week, when "Scotch Night"—and this probably doesn't mean what you think it means!—will be celebrated in style with the skirl of the dudelsack and the rattle of drums. James Garioth and E. Davis, authentic Scotch pipers, together with Andrew Patterson, drummer, will present a full program of favorite tunes of "Auld Reekie" in the entertainment intermission. Drummer Patterson is also said to be a gifted comedy singer, in the Harry Lauder manner.

Dance music for both dinner and supper sessions will be by Meyer Davis' Club Chantecler Orchestra, Harry Albert directing.

And speaking of such, romance and glamour will reign over the Shoreham Terrace this evening when a "Carnival in Venice" will be staged, with gay gondoliers, Venetian music, colorful dancers and, in fact, all of the atmospheric mise en scene of Venice, except the Grand Canal, of which there will be two, the bathing pool being bisected for this night only!

A double male quartet, by bulk, consisting of Signor Orangelo Ratto, of the Palace; the Messrs. Carter Barron and Eddy Gilmore, Loew executives, and Master Frank Offutt, of this journal's art department, are today tangling with a mess of warmed-over spaghetti and "Dago red" as guests of Signor Ratto at his little shanty in shantytown, somewhere in Maryland, 10 or 30 or 50 miles from Washington. Quick, boy, the bicarbonate of soda and a good stiff beaker or Bell-ans!

A cute Monday night, just-dashing-away-on-a-belated-honeymoon note from the contemporary Miss Eleanore Wilson, explaining that that week-end event, instead of being a marriage, was merely the announcement of one that took place December 30, 1931. Heh, heh, heh! I knew it all the time!

And now let me see. No, I guess not; don't believe I could have been, without remembering something about it. And besides, I don't even get any good offers any more!

Oh, well!

DELEGATION SCORES ALLEGED GAMBLING

Prince Georges Pastor Tells Commissioners Vice Is Prevalent in County.

Prince Georges County's "civic righteousness" campaign opened yesterday with a prayer by Dr. B. P. Robertson, pastor of the Hyattsville Baptist Church, who led a delegation of some twenty persons before the county commissioners at their regular meeting in Marlboro.

Dr. Robertson left with the commissioners a copy of the gambling laws of the county "in case the sheriff doesn't have one," he remarked.

Dr. Robertson asked the commissioners what good citizens could do to remove the stigma he says it bears. It was suggested that he get warrants for the vice dens he said existed, but he retorted that he did not propose to take over the law enforcement in the county.

One of the commissioners then suggested that the interested citizens ask the chief of police to escort them to an alleged gambling house and raid it.

Others who spoke were W. H. Seidenspinner, foreman of the last grand jury, and Mrs. Herbert Roby, head of the county W. C. T. U., and Magistrate Retta Morris.

The commissioners agreed to pave the remaining mile of the Piscataway-Clinton road out of the 1933 road fund, after Claude Underwood and Elmore Dyson had appeared to ask its construction. Warren E. Peak was appointed constable in Lanham District and Ralph W. Knight in Kent District. The Park and Planning Commission told the county commissioners that they had forbidden trucks selling gas to operate in residential neighborhoods, and that that was as far as they could go. H. B. Lauton was appointed tree warden in Riverdale.

FAIRFAX CHILDREN BARRED FROM FETE

School Board Votes Against Their Participation in Dairy Festival.

The Fairfax County, Va., school board at its meeting yesterday adopted a resolution of regret that it was not possible to allow the county school children to take part in the Piedmont Dairy Festival in Manassas, Va., September 30.

The resolution stated that the board regrets that it feels inexpedient, in view of the welfare of the county schools and pupils, to close school on Friday, September 30, to permit the children to attend the festival. While approving the festival and the participation of school children, the board believes that the only practicable day from the school standpoint would be Saturday and if the festival committee should be able to change the date of the annual celebration it would assure the cooperation of Fairfax County school board and the participation of the county school children in it.

The board granted Dr. A. L. Carson, county health director, permission to use motion picture machines in the various schools of the county to show educational films, provided arrangements as to time and place were first made with the local school principal.

The major portion of yesterday's meeting was devoted to making final arrangements for the opening of schools next week for the 1932-33 school year. School bus routes were outlined and drivers approved. Repairs and new walks were authorized for several of the schools. Several delegations from the various school communities appeared before the board asking for changes and extension of bus routes.

ONE KILLED, 20 HURT AS HOUSE COLLAPSES

Victims Gathering Wood in Partially Wrecked Chicago Dwelling.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Trapped by collapse of a partially dismantled house while salvaging kindling, one man was killed and twenty persons were injured tonight.

The victims, residents of a poverty-ridden North Side industrial district had been proffered the wood by the owner who was having the ancient two-story structure wrecked preliminary to erecting a new building on the site.

The dead man, Casper Shiba, 55, was the father of several children. He had been unemployed for some time. Most of the injured are women and children.

While those trapped were gathering lumber on the ground floor and in the basement, police were told, some children ripped weather boarding from the lower outside section causing the already weakened supports to give way.

The house collapsed accordion-like burying the victims under tons of plaster and debris.

Police, firemen and hospital attaches were rushed to the scene but were several hours extricating victims from the mass of wreckage. Their efforts were handicapped by thousands of curious drawn to the scene.

Shiba was dead when pulled from the wreckage. Of the injured four were not expected to live.

Fire-Setting Charged to Man.

LOTT OUSTS PARKER FROM NATIONAL TENNIS PLAY

Midwest Boy Beaten by Veteran

Bows in Four Sets to Man He Conquered Many Times.

Cochet, Vines Advance Easily to 4th Round at Forest Hills.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6 (A. P.).—Just as he had vowed he would, George Lott, jr., of the Chicago Lotts, had his revenge today on Frankie Parker, the 16-year-old Milwaukee phenom who has been beating him all over the South, the Midwest and Canada the last several months.

Luring Frankie out on the center court at West Side Tennis Club, with 6,000 fans and a dozen linesmen eyeing his every move, the Davis Cup veteran mowed down his youthful tormentor by scores of 6—4, 6—1, 4—6, 6—2 in the third round of the national tennis championships.

It was a battle every stroke of the way, with Parker at times rising to the heights of brilliance and eliciting the loudest cheers his youthful ears have heard, but in the end he couldn't cope with the determined Lott, roused to a pitch usually foreign to his natur

Lott Takes Net at Every Opening.

Lott leaped to the attack from the start, forcing his way to the net at every opening, and he never let up except for a brief time in the third set, when he appeared to rest and collect himself for a decisive onslaught in the fourth.

Parker's greatest handicap was lack of a service severe enough to keep Lott in the back court.

Even though he lost, however, the consensus was the blond boy, still 5 years from his majority, will become a power in national tennis.

The match was the high point of the third day's play, in which all but two seeded stars won and joined the select group of sixteen who will continue in the fourth round tomorrow. Dave Jones, of New York, seeded ninth in this country, lost a gruelling match to Edward Avory, of England, 6—4, 1—6, 6—4, 5—7, 10—8, and Marcel Bernard, of France, seeded No. 6 on the foreign list, was waylaid by Keith Gledhill, the California star, 8—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3.

Vines Is Carried To Four Sets.

Henri Cochet, of France, and Ellsworth Vines, jr., defending champion, went blithely on toward the finals, although Vines was carried to four sets in eliminating Gabriel Lavine, of Philadelphia, 6—1, 6—0, 8—10, 7—5.

Cochet, playing Manuel Alonso for the first time in 10 years, gave a sparkling exhibition in beating the veteran Spaniard, 6—2, 6—4, 6—1. Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, who will tackle Cochet tomorrow, defeated Edward Feibleman, of New York, 6—1, 5—7, 6—0, 6—3. Vines' next opponent will be Gledhill, coholder with him of the national doubles crown.

THIRD ROUND.

Frederick Perry, England, defeated Richard N. Williams 2d, Wayne, Pa., 6—0, 6—2, 6—1.

Henri Cochet, France, defeated Manuel Alonzo, New York, 6—2, 6—4, 6—1.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, defeated Karl Kamrath, Austin, Tex., 6—1, 6—4, 6—1.

Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, defeated Marcel Bernard, France, 8—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3.

John Olliff, England, defeated Frank Bowden, New York, 6—1, 6—4, 6—1.

Frank Shields, New York, defeated Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., 10—8, 6—3, 7—5.

Ellsworth Vines, jr., Pasadena, defeated Gabriel Lavine, Philadelphia, 6—1, 6—0, 8—10, 7—5.

Takeo Kuwabara, Japan, defeated Bryan Grant, jr., Atlanta, 6—3, 2—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—4.

Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, defeated Edward Jacobs, Baltimore, 6—3, 6—3, 7—5.

John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, defeated Edward Feibleman, New York, 6—1, 5—7, 6—0, 6—3.

Wilmer Allison, Austin, defeated Martin Buxby, New York, 6—3, 9—7, 6—2.

H. W. Austin, England, defeated *Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, 6—4, 8—6, 6—2.

Sidney Wood, jr., New York, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., 7—5, 8—6, 6—4.

George Lott, jr., Chicago, defeated Frank Parker, Milwaukee, 6—4, 6—1, 4—6, 6—2.

Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles, defeated Joseph Coughlin, San Francisco, 6—4, 6—3, 6—3.

Edward Avory, England, defeated Dave Jones, New York, 6—4, 1—6, 6—4, 5—7, 10—8.

Charest Nears Finals In Veterans' Net Play

Special to The Washington Post.

Forest Hills, Long Island, Sept. 6.—Clarence Charest, brilliant one-armed netman from Washington, D. C., fought his way into the round before the quarter-finals here today in the annual veterans' tennis championship of the United States. Stroking in fine form and hitting his shots with more assurance than he has shown since winning the veterans' title in 1929, Charest trimmed Manfred Goldman, New York, 6—3, 6—4.

Harrison Hathaway, remaining Washingtonian in the veterans' meet, lost to Charles Jones, of New York, 6—2, 10—8. Hathaway,

THIRTY-EIGHT golfers, five of whom are candidates for the national amateur championship at Five Farms next week, will invade Chevy Chase's course this morning to open the 72-hole battle for the District championship, which Harry G. Pitt, sharpshooter from the Manor Club, will defend.

A number of the old guard from Washington links will be absent. Roland Mackenzie, who leaped into national prominence a few years ago, and Miller Stevinson, both of Columbia, are definitely out of the fight. The tournament committee did not report an entry from either John F. Brawner, of Columbia, or Franklin Parks, of Congressional.

Ten additional entries yesterday included the names of Martin F. McCarthy, Beaver Dam ace and contestant in the Five Farms event; Parker Nolan, siege gun from Congressional, and Freddie Hitz and Frank Reeside, both of Chevy Chase, post entries, will be accepted at the first tee.

Thirty-six holes are on today's program. Golf observers are of the opinion that a total close to 300 will win.

NATS FACING 18 GAMES IN WEST

At Full Strength for Invasion With 2d Place Objective.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON and his Nationals left town last night for St. Louis, where they open their final Western invasion of the year tomorrow. Eighteen games, all told, will be played before the Capital Cityans return to ring down the curtain with a single contest in Griffith Stadium against the Mackmen. Three days is the longest stop in the other sector, with the Cleveland visit lasting but two days.

Should the coming eighteen games net as many victories as did the last eighteen, the Nats probably would reach their second-place objective for they now are but three games behind the runner-up Mackmen, but Manager Johnson's charges have proven to be a poor road team this season.

Only Team Able to Tie Yankees.

At home, though, they have been going great guns. Including three games played in New York last week they won 18 of the 24 contests scheduled since they returned home on August 13, losing but one series and that a two-game one to the Yankees, whom they later beat in another one to make them the only team to as good as tie the league leaders on season's play.

Over this stretch the Nats received fairly consistent pitching and fielded well, outscoring, outslugging and under-erroring their collective opponents by comfortable margins. Here is a figure picture of their accomplishments:

On this trip the Washington Club is in better shape than it has been all season. As to the mound staff, every member is fairly well rested, with Bill McAfee having proven a worthy addition, Fred Marberry back into winning habits and Alphonse Thomas, who was out from August 13 to August 31, again available.

Cronin Joins Manush in "Leading Five."

Carl Reynolds is back in action and showing flashes of a return to hitting form and his use against left-handers, with Sam Rice getting the call when orthodox flingers oppose, has been working out well. And besides, Joe Cronin has joined Heinie Manush in the elite "Leading Five" hitters, while Buddy Myer cracked out four hits on his return to the game Sunday, following injuries. Beat Browns, 4-3, and 6-0, to Cut Margin to 2½ Games.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians made a clean sweep of their four-game series with the St. Louis Browns by winning both games of a double-header today, 4 to 3 and 6 to 0, and shaving to 2½ games the Washington club's second-place margin.

Earl Averill, Cleveland center fielder, hit his thirty-first home run of the season in the second game, and also clouted a two-base hit. He hit two home runs in the first game of yesterday's double-header.

Connally held the Browns to eight safeties in the second contest today, and made a three-base hit.

Irving Hadley, making his third start in four days for the Browns, had only one bad inning, the sixth. Luke Sewell's double sent two runners home and then counted on Burnett's double.

Yankees 2 to 1 Favorite to Beat Cubs

Shorter Odds Loom as World Series Approaches.

Landis Invites Three Clubs From Each League to Parley.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (U.P.).—Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, ruler of baseball's vast empire, came to town today to begin preparations for the approaching world series.

Landis settled himself in an easy chair at his hotel and as the wind from an open window stirred his Mark Twain mop of hair announced that he would call a meeting Friday for representatives of clubs who have a "mathematical possibility" of winning the National or American League pennants.

"All details of the series will be worked out at this meeting," Commissioner Landis explained between puffs on a flat, brown cigar. "Until then I can say nothing about the series. You see the pennants haven't been clinched yet."

Shorter Odds Seen Due.

While Judge Landis was exercising this cagey attitude regarding his series, gentlemen of New York's betting fraternity were boldly laying plans for wagering on a meeting between the Yanks and Cubs. The first odds offered were 2 to 1 in favor of the New Yorkers. It was believed in "wise money" channels that the odds would be cut down within the next two weeks to 5 to 3.

Chicago has a fine pitching staff and, as the series approaches, if these two teams win their pennant, the experts will begin emphasizing that these able hurlers may stop the heavy-hitting Yanks. If they can do that, the Cubs have an excellent chance to win.

Invites Six Teams To Parley.

The commissioner said representatives of the Yankees, Athletics and Nats, of the American League, and of the Cubs, Pirates and Dodgers would be invited to the meting. "Of course, I'm not sure all will attend," he admitted with a dry smile. "Some of them may feel that their mathematical possibility is too slight."

Templetons Advance To U. S. Polo Semifinal

Meadow Brook, Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The Templeton Team, of Winston; Raymond Guest, Stewart Iglehart and Michael Phipps today rode over Seymour Knox's Aurora four, 13 goals to 6, in the first semifinal of the national open polo championships. Saturday they meet the winner of the other semifinal match between East-Cott and Greentree.

DECISION TO CHOCOLATE.

Boston, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight champion, won a decision over Steve Smith, of Bridgeport, tonight in the Argonne A. A.'s ten-round feature bout at Fenway Park. The "Keed" took every round. He weighed 128. Smith was 4 pounds heavier.

Hagen Accepts Bid To Tour Argentina

Detroit, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Walter Hagen today accepted an invitation of Jose Jurado to visit the Argentine this winter for exhibition golf matches similar to those Jurado and Hagen have played in the United States this summer.

Hagen said he will sail some time in December. Jurado's visit to this country will end September 17 when he sails from New York.

Epsom Winner 33-to-1 Shot in St. Leger Stake

London, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—April the Fifth won the English Derby at Epsom, but he is considered to have no better than a 33-to-1 chance to carry off the honors in the classic St. Leger Stakes, which has attracted the pick of the English turf's 3-year-olds for tomorrow's renewal at Doncaster.

The Derby winner was a doubtful starter until today, when his owner and trainer, Tom Walls, declared the colt was ready for the big test.

W. M. G. Singer's Orwell, the disappointment of the Derby after ruling the 2-year-old division last year, was the favorite in the final call over of betting odds, at 3 to 1. J. Dear's Violater was the second choice, at 13 to 2, with the Aga Khan's Udaipur held at 7 to 1. Dastur, also from the Aga Khan's stable, was quoted at 10 to 1.

Morgantown, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Anthony Latona and Frank Shore, Capital netmen, were defeated in a bitter five-set finals match for the doubles championship of the annual Morgantown Country Club tournament here yesterday by Alex Keiles and Price Colvin, of Baltimore. Dr. John O'Loughlin, Pittsburgh, won the singles crown, beating Alex Keiles, 6—0, 6—1, 4—6, 6—4. O'Loughlin defeated Latona in the semifinals, 6—0, 6—4. Shore lost to Price Colvin in the quarter-finals in two close sets.

$2 Ticket Nets Better $3,489 at Blue Bonnets

Montreal, Canada, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—What is believed to be a new high for a "daily double" was set at the Blue Bonnets track when the combination of Floria Zel and Rock Point paid one man $3,489.50 for a $2 ticket. Only one ticket was sold on the combination.

Floria Zel, winner of the second race, paid $19.15 in the mutuels, while Rock Point won the third at $18.65.

OH DAVE SCORES IN HANDY FASHION AT LINCOLN FIELDS

4-1 Shot Sets Pace From Start

Beats Totem to Wire by Three-Quarters of Length.

Islam, Choice, Paying Even Money, Lands Third Place.

LINCOLN FIELD, Ill., Sept. 6 (A. P.).—Oh Dave, running in the colors of Lair and Parish, made a runaway of the fifth event at Lincoln Fields, the best race of a featureless card today.

Jockey C. King hustled Oh Dave to the front at the start and set his own pace throughout the mile and sixteenth, winning easily by three quarters of a length over Totem, which made a strong stretch run. Islam, the even money favorite, finished third.

Oh Dave ran the distance in 1:44 2-5, and paid $10.02 to win; $4.96 to place, and $3.06 to show.

Illusive Upsets

Belmont Choices.

Belmont Race Track, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Showing rare gameness under strong handling by Jockey Johnny Gilbert, Illusive, an 8-to-1 hazard from the stable of Miss Mary Corning, sped to a driving victory in the Mineola, a claiming stake for 2-year-olds which headed the program here today. The daughter of General Lee maintained a head advantage to the end over Mrs J. H. Whitney's Poppy Man, the favorite, to collect the $2,600 purse. How High, representing Mrs. T. J. Lewis, was three lengths away in third position.

The time for the six furlongs was 113 flat. The track was in drying out condition.

Illusive took the track shortly after a good start and Gilbert saved just enough for the finishing drive. Poppyman was right along side of the leader with Hank Mills doing his mightiest to make the favorite collar Illusive, but the latter ran as his name implies and gamely stuck it out in a hard drive.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, SEPT. 6.

Every day is Labor Day in this neck of the woods. To make matters worse Aurora closed shop yesterday and all the bang-tails were hustled down here from that track, so with horses of so little class and many so evenly matched most anything may be expected. Dade Park has sent over its quota and as a result there are "good things" and "sleepers" galore in each race. With so many "shootin'" even those in the know have a hard time keeping from being hit.

I am giving you the best "info" available, but warning you now is no time to be trying to get your winter oats. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—The usual grab-bag maiden affair for 2-year-olds. If you must play it, HUEU, PHARAHEAD and TOM JACK JR. stand as good a chance as any.

SECOND RACE—ALTMARK, with a pull in the weights, may be able to last. PANCHO and SARAZEN II for what's left.

THIRD RACE—WEE DROP has been scratched three straight days and tomorrow I expect to see Jockey Wright boot him home. BAG SMASHER was a two-time winner at Aurora and is the contender. MORSNUFF to show.

FOURTH RACE—This is a speedy affair and the start probably will decide the result. With an even break ESSEFF, MONKS STAR and MISS MELODY should finish in the order named.

FIFTH RACE—INDIAN RUNNER is none too fond of any route exceeding 6 furlongs, but I expect to see him stick it out tomorrow. PRINCE HOTSPUR and MINTON for place and show.

SEVENTH RACE—EASY is my long-shot special. BILLY CHAMP should be no worse than second, with MAD CAREER not far behind.

EIGHTH RACE—This is a very open race. ANITA ORMONT may repeat. DON TASKER should beat HATTERAS for what is left.

Selling Sends Stocks Down In 4,362,700-Share Trading

Slightly More Than Point Lost in Battle for Higher Prices.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The stock market's pursuit of plus signs was halted today by a liberal volume of offerings, and leading shares showed an average net loss of slightly more than a point.

Bullish professionals kept the pot stirring by mark-ups in coppers, steel, oils and specialties during the forenoon, but encountered more general resistance than of late. Metal issues, helped by a firmer quotation on foreign copper, which was hailed as a forecast of further domestic improvement, managed to stick it out to the close; otherwise, the morning gains, ranging from 1 to 4 points, faded. Rails refused to be impressed by the early rise, nor were utilities inclined to do more than look on.

U. S. Steel common did its best to set a new high for the year, but that effort was not quite good enough, as the stock shied off after touching 82½, or ½ under its 1932 peak. It closed at 80, down 1½ net. American Telephone's 3-point loss was matched by Santa Fe and Union Pacific. Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, American Can, National Biscuit, Case, International Harvester, New York Central and Southern Pacific lost about 1 to 2. United Aircraft and Auburn wilted after vigorous sallies. Transactions reached the substantial volume of 4,362,700 shares.

Strength of foreign security markets on our holiday appeared to have little effect here, probably because it was felt Europe had only been trying to catch up with Wall street. Labor Day news, aside from the Farm Board's statement on cotton and wheat, consisted mostly of gleanings which told of seasonal stirrings in domestic trade, movements that should gain more strength as the fall period is approached and entered.

Two of this week's routine industrial reports are being awaited with unusual interest. One of these, the annual unfilled tonnage statement of U. S. Steel Corporation for August, is subject to wide conjecture, some maintaining that the company's backlog showed a gain last month after its sixteen-month decline.

Wheat.

Advance of more than 2 cents per bushel was cut to fractions by profit-takers. The market was influenced by varied reports.

Cotton.

Realizing and Southern selling trimmed gains of 40 points to 5, December closed at 9.03.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—Rising commodity prices induced fresh buying of mining, rubber, oil and textile shares on the stock exchange. The acceptance of London's rise in transatlantic issues over the American holiday by New York caused further support in the American securities. British funds were quietly maintained and the market closed firm. Argentine rails were better.

PARIS—Good reports from London and Brussels gave prices on the bourse fresh impetus. Rentes were active with the 4 centum perpetuals notably higher. International issues were firm and the Young plan loan was in demand. The closing was firm.

BERLIN—Prices on the boerse continued their upward movement and the closing was strong.

CURB DEALING ENDS IN SHARP REACTIONS

Result Is Uneven in Sale of 620,000 Shares; Utilities Suffer.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Prices on the Curb Market were on an uneven keel today, first advancing in tune with rising commodity prices and then reacting fairly sharply.

Transactions totaled 620,000 shares, or 160,000 more than last Friday.

The public utility stocks which had been actively bid up in last week's trading suffered a somewhat sharper decline than most industrials.

Exceptions to the main trend were furnished by Central States Electric, which on reports of group buying was churned up to a new high for the year at 6¾, closing at 5¾ for a net gain of 1¾ points, and Cities Service common which advanced fractionally. Aluminum Co. broke 4 points and Walgreen was off over a point.

Deere & Co. enjoyed a brisk advance to another new high at 18¾, but closed at 16⅝ when the edge wore off the rally in wheat and was down 1¼ on the day.

Quoted Stock Values Gain $12,149,022,229 in 60 Days

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The significance of the recent stock market activity, from the standpoint of value, is shown by the announcement today of the New York Stock Exchange that all listed issues, as of September 1, had an aggregate market valuation of $27,782,501,806, compared with a low total on July 1, of $15,633,479,577.

The September 1 figures disclosed that all listed shares had increased their quoted values $7,287,742,341 during the month of August. The latest aggregate valuation is the highest since December 1, last year, when the total was $31,105,267,133. On September 1, 1931, the total was $44,587,026,110.

BOND PRICES STAND UNCHANGED IN SALES

Rails Turn Market Spotty; Trading Mounts to $12,572,000.

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The bond market watched the rails today, and, as a consequence, developed a spotty appearance. Only the utilities closed with a fairly firm tone.

The day's sales were slightly greater than last Friday, aggregating $12,572,000, par value, while the average for 60 corporate securities was unchanged.

The carriers started out with indications of stepping up to higher levels. But the recently fast-moving speculative group attracted considerable profit-taking in the latter part of the session. Losses, however, as a rule, held between fractions and a point.

German government, municipal and corporate loans were the features of the firm foreign section. The Reich 5½s were the heaviest traded, gaining 1⅜ points. The Argentines and Australians rallied briskly and loans of Buenos Aires Province advanced 3 or more points.

There was little life in the industrials. Improvement was shown by issues of Goodyear and Goodrich and some of the oils were steady.

The Treasury's announcement of an offering of $1,150,000,000 of five-year notes and and one-year certificates for September 15, did not disturb the listed Government issues to any great extent. Trading in this department was quiet and prices fairly steady.

1,373,000,000 Barrels Of Oil May Be Quota

New York, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—The world's consumption of petroleum and its products in 1931 was today estimated at 1,373,000,000 barrels by Henry L. Doherty & Co.

Gasoline, gas and fuel oils represented about 83 per cent of the total consumption, it was calculated.

WHEAT VALUES HOLD FRACTIONS OF GAINS

Profit Taking Saps Rise of 2 Cents; Corn and Oats Advance.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Urgency of wheat traders who wished to convert profits into cash did much to turn prices sharply backward today after a brisk advance.

Stirred by news that 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels of Government-financed domestic wheat would be held off the market until next year, prices made a quick jump of 2½ cents, but later dropped nearly all the gain. Tending to incite selling was 3,638,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply, and enlarged hedging pressure at Winnipeg.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅞ to 1¼ above Saturday's finish; corn, unchanged to ⅞ higher; oats, ⅛ off to ⅛ up, and provisions, unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Highest prices in wheat were reached during an early general buying rush that hoisted May contracts to a new top record for the season. On subsequent dips, buying was of good volume, but insufficient to keep the market upgrade; export business totaled about 1,000,000 bushels, practically all of it, however, Canadian.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat.

BUILDING-LOAN LIST OF MEMBERS GROWS

1931 Roll in Capital Totals 83,307, Making Gain of 8,054 Names.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The 24 member building and loan associations in the District of Columbia had a membership of 83,307 at the end of 1931, according to the annual report of H. F. Cellarius, Cincinnati, secretary-treasurer of the United States Building and Loan League. This represents a gain of 8,054 members during that year. Total assets of the local associations had reached $81,861,000 at the close of last year and this is likewise an increase of $6,457,000.

The 94 member associations of Virginia had a membership of 66,570 and total assets of $60,365,508. These figures reflect respective declines of 160 and $74,136. Member associations of Maryland, the number of which is estimated at 1,100, had a membership of 320,000 and assets of $210,000,000. These figures also indicate respective recessions of 10,000 and $10,000,000.

Total membership of the 11,442 associations in the league was 11,338,701 and total assets, $8,417,375,605. These are respective losses during the year of 1,012,227 and $411,236,320. Pennsylvania, State of the original building and loan association in this country, had the largest number of member associations, 3,268, and the greatest amount of assets, $1,250,692,072. The three league associations of Nevada close the list with assets of $1,026,888.

18 BACKFIELD MEN OUT AT C. U.

Work Starts Saturday; Three Sure of Berths.

EIGHTEEN back field men will bid for places on Catholic University's Football Team when the Cardinal squad opens its training season Saturday at Brookland Stadium. Seven of the eighteen are tried and trusted men from last year's sensational team, and the remainder labored with the rugged 1931 freshmen.

Unless one of the applicants show unprecedented form, it appears likely that three of the four back field posts are already filled, and that a mad scramble will ensue for the gap left by the graduation of Carl DeMello, at right half back.

Good Talent for Odd Backfield Berth.

The three favorites to retain their 1931 varsity positions are Capt. Bus Sheary, full back; Tommy Whelan, prancing half back with a national reputation, and Charley McVean, who did a capable piece of work at quarter back last year.

Listed among the welter of material Coach Bergman can choose from for the fourth back field man and reserve posts are Bob McVean, Francis Donaher, John Jankowski and Howard Callender, back field men of 1931, and a group of burly sophomore ball carriers—Eugene Augusterfer, Pat Montague, P. H. Grady, E. F. Thibadeau, Mac McCabe, Tom and Gerald Geartry, Tom Finn, Pete Draginish, Francis Santry and Tom Oliver.

Brush, Timber Races At Farmington Oct. 29

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Two brush and two timber races, with purses of $200 divided into four moneys, and a plate for the winners in three events, will feature the annual race meet over the Farmington Country Club steeplechase course near here October 29.

The race is conducted by the recently organized Albemarle Racing Association, of which William B. Borgert, of Keswick, is president. All Albemarle and Keswick races in the future will be conducted under the association's auspices.

The feature event will be the Ortman Steeplechase over timber at even weights and open to all riders subject to the approval of the committee.

NATS NOW AT PEAK FOR WESTERN TOUR

Nats are all pepped up over their chance of overhauling the Athletics, which means about $400 more for each player, and one may figure that the Nats are likely to go places and do things on this run down the homestretch.

The Nats are looking upward so steadily these days that they seem to have forgotten that the Indians are right on their trail. By twice beating the St. Louis Browns yesterday, the Tribe pulled up to within two and one-half games of the Washington entry. But, if the Nats can win regularly enough to overtake the A's, they need not lose any sleep worrying over the teams behind them in the race.

38 GOLFERS SEEKING PITT'S LOCAL CROWN

Nee, 17-year-old junior champion; Billy Detweiler, 14, Washington's latest boy prodigy of golf; Johnny Shorey, all three of Manor, and Billy Shannon, of Columbia, are figured to play an important part. Roger Peacock, Tom Belshe and William J. Harvey, jr., are three potent contestants from Indian Spring, while Capt. K. J. Fielder is outstanding from Army and Navy.

The first threesome will leave the tee at 9 o'clock.

Starting times and pairings for additional entries follow:

9:54-1:54—George F. Miller (Manor), Merle Thorpe, jr. (Burning Tree), Andrew J. Walker (Congressional).

10-2—Frank Reeside (Chevy Chase), Parker Nolan (Congressional), Freddie Hitz (Chevy Chase).

10:06-2:06—Maurice F. McCarthy (Beaver Dam), Ralph Fowler (Washington), F. K. Emmert (Congressional).

10:12-2:12—F. M. Goodwin (Congressional), H. H. Kidwell (Indian Spring).

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

DAVID J. DAVIS, who bought Phar Lap without having previously seen his bargain, now has purchased another horse sired by Night Raid. It is Pillow Fight, a New Zealand 3-year-old.

When Davis bought Phar Lap at 2 years, purely on the basis of his breeding, the gelding had given no indication he would develop into a wonder horse and the terror of the book makers "down under."

Three thousand guineas was paid for Pillow Fight. Reports from New Zealand suggest that apart from Phar Lap and Night March, Pillow Fight has shown more promise than any of the other sons and daughters of Night Raid.

Pillow Fight is said to resemble Phar Lap greatly in appearance and is out of an imported mare, Week End, which makes his blood lines closely akin to those of the "red terror."

Sires frequently produce more than one champion. A notable example is Man o' War with American Flag and Crusader.

Whether Pillow Fight will race in the United States and Mexico is still a question, but it is considered quite likely in view of the success which confronted Phar Lap before his untimely death due to colic.

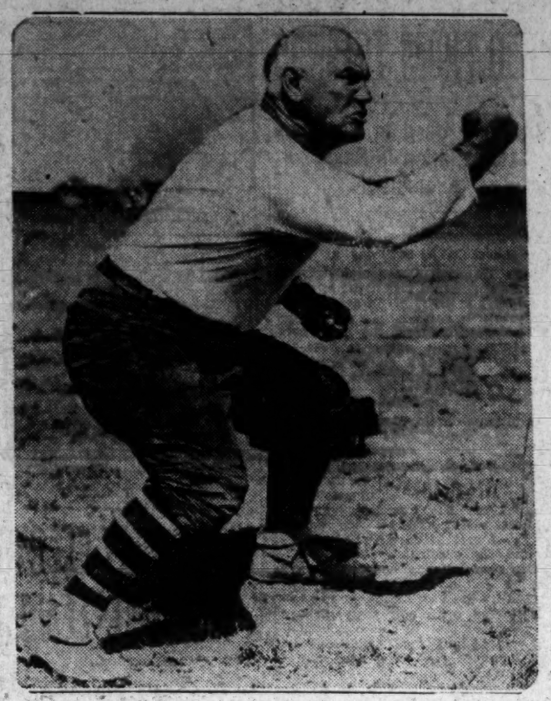
Pillow Fight was bought in New Zealand from the estate of W. G. Stead by cable from San Mateo, Calif., where Davis has lived this summer.

COAST TIMERS VINDICATED.

One thing the record breaking in the track and field events of the tenth Olympiad did was to restore confidence in California timers, who were losing ground rapidly on their good name as holders of stopwatches.

The way in which records slipped into oblivion on the fast Olympic Stadium track under a group of foreign timers and electrical camera timing devices would indicate that it is one of the fastest courses in the world and that "Pacific Coast standard time" probably isn't so far off after all.

Kicking, Running Comprise Initial Grid Session at G. U.



COACH TOM MILLS is pictured exhorting his Georgetown football hopes to greater deeds as practice opened at the Hilltop yesterday. Mills, once on the legitimate stage, carries his dramatics into his football classes.

Jack Carberry, New Coaching Aid, to Report Today.

TOMMY MILLS, dynamic dispenser of football knowledge at Georgetown University, yesterday led a skeleton team into its first practice of the season at the Hilltop, the first time in seven years that the Hoya outfit has trained at home. He was assisted by Frank Kerjes, Notre Dame product, and will be further assisted today by the arrival of Jack Carberry, Notre Dame player of a while back, and recently Notre Dame freshman coach.

The new coach will replace Frank Leahy, another Notre Dame player, who has gone to Michigan in a coaching capacity.

Dressed in nothing more substantial than track suits, the squad, numbering 24 youths, encompassed only six lettermen in its ranks, one of them being a letterman of 1930. The six were Mack Stanley, right half, his head shaved in near convict fashion; Johnnie Shimmins, stocky full back; Bernie Donoghue and Nick Viskovitch, left half backs, and rangy Fred Callaghan, center. Russ Danieu, who was on the injured list most of last season, appeared in good shape, although he wore a specially constructed knee brace which betokened a still-weak limb.

From time to time, within the next week, the squad will jump to nearly 50, including six more lettermen from the ill-starred 1931 team.

Most interesting of the expected new arrivals in camp is Al Kelley, burly 190-pound speed merchant who held the national 70-yard indoor championship last year and is rated among America's greatest sprinters. Kelley, who played considerable football before coming to Georgetown, will be worked into a half back. Mills has had experience with sprinter-gridmen, having been instrumental in developing Notre Dame's streak—Jack Elder.

Nothing much but kicking a football around (which by the way did not unearth the kicker Georgetown needs) and track work marked the initial meeting. Mills scouted the idea that the change from Rehoboth Beach to Georgetown's back yard will have any detrimental effect on the team.

TRIO INJURED AT COLONIAL GRID DRILL

McCarver, Hickman, Carter Hurt; Fenlon Stars.

Special to The Washington Post.

CAMP LETTS, Md., Sept. 6.—Whatever doubts Coach Jim Pixlee has had in mind that his young army of George Washington football players were not in shape or scrimmage shy were completely blasted here this afternoon when three rugged teams went through two solid hours of rough-and-ready grid laboring.

Old Man Injury, patron devil of every football coach, was on hand and relegated three huskies to the sidelines. One of his victims was Joe Carter, regular half back, who went out with a sprained ankle and will remain inactive at least a week. Another was Boyd Hickman, regular guard, who celebrated his first day in camp by badly gashing his nose against an upturned cleat. No. 3 was Nig McCarver, promising sophomore half back, who was returned to Washington last night for further experimentation with the pulled tendon in his hip.

Scrimmages Daily Routine.

But on the whole, it was a pleasing day for the coaching staff, and seemingly many of the players. Pixlee expressed satisfaction with the physical shape the squad was in and served notice that this scrimmaging routine would continue every day, in the afternoon, until camp breaks up nearly two weeks hence. The morning drills will be given over to fundamental instructions, with the squads split up into small groups.

Most impressive today, in the clatter and clang of scrimmaging, was Johnnie Fenlon, one of the most versatile athletes ever to enter George Washington. Fenlon, on the ailing list frequently last year, showed no signs of duplicating his 1931 "vacations" today.

Two more huskies reported today—Hardy Pearce and Paul Derringer, tackles. Their arrival brought the player registration to 56.

Playground Titles At Stake in 3 Sports

Tennis, baseball and water polo make up the Playground Department's sports program for September. Elimination contests are being staged daily in these three sports, with champions to be crowned near the end of the month.

One title will be decided today when Barnard and New York Avenue meet at New York Avenue for the soft ball baseball title for boys 14 and under. The tennis league functions four times a week, with more than 30 playgrounds represented.

The water polo league, recently formed, is composed of teams from Eckington, Georgetown, Rosedale, Garfield and Monument Pools.

Two New Teams Enter District Duckpin Loop

Teams representing the Occidental Hotel and Georgetown Recreation alleys were granted franchises in the District Bowling League at a meeting held last night at the Lucky Strike alleys. The newcomers will replace the Hecht Co. and Fountain Hams teams.

Norman Scroth was reelected president of the loop, Walter (Reds) Megaw again was chosen to serve as vice president and Ben McAlwee was returned to his post of secretary-treasurer and scorer. The league schedule was extended to 36 weeks, thereby increasing the prize money fund by $450. A consolation prize has been added to the stake list. It will be awarded the team among the last five in the standings with the highest average in the final series.

All officers of the Columbia Heights Bowling League were reelected at a meeting held at the Arcade alleys last night. They are George A. Ford, president; Ray E. Miller, vice president, and Jimmy Simmons, treasurer. The season will open September 20, with ten teams competing.

MARYLAND U. SQUAD NEAR COMPLETE

34 Gridmen on Hand; De Veau's Absence Disappoints.

THE arrival of recruits at Maryland University's training camp at College Park yesterday swelled the ranks to 34 and accounted for all but a handfull of the expected members of the Old Line grid group.

Yesterday's arrivals included George Cole, reserve tackle on the 1931 team; Bob Snyder, reserve back last year, and Paul Rouzer, 230-pound guard, who saw much action last year.

DeBeau's Absence Disappoints.

One of the disappointing angles of the training camp to date has been the continued absence of Don DeVeau, former Central High end, who was seenfingly headed to fill the shoes of either Jack Norris or Al Pease, graduated wingmen. Coach Byrd has received no word from the former Centralite, who starred with the freshmen last year.

GRID SQUADS OUT AT 4 SCHOOLS

Gonzaga, Western, Eastern, Central Prep for Season.

SCHOOL opened for approximately 100 Washington boys yesterday, but a different kind of school as distinguished by the ordinary schoolroom proceedings. The pupils, clad only in "shorts," their well-tanned bodies glistening in the sun, were candidates for the Central, Eastern, Western and Gonzaga football teams.

A squad of 40 participated in a light limbering-up drill at Eastern. Coach Guyon later divided the players into three teams and sent them galloping up and down the field, running through stock plays to familiarize themselves with the pigskin. All of the candidates, many of whom recently returned from a two-weeks training trip with the Marine Reserves, appeared to be in good physical condition.

Promising Linemen at Gonzaga.

Out of the advance guard of the Gonzaga squad Coach Orrel Mitchell selected a few promising linemen whom he hopes will fill the shoes of players lost from last year's team. The main body of the Purple squad will start work this morning at 10 o'clock on the Tidal Basin field.

Bert Coggins' Central squad spent a good two hours in calisthenics. Coggins faces a tremendous task in placing a winning team on the field this season, but he is optimistic concerning the future. Plenty of husky players were in view yesterday.

The usual calisthenics were the order of the day for Western. A small squad reported to Coach Dan Ahern, who enters in on the 1932 season with good prospects for a winning season. Ahearn will confine the team's activities to morning drills on its home field for the remainder of the week.

Rulloda and Eugenio To Filipino Net Final

The final round of the Filipino doubles tournament was reached yesterday when Policarpo Rulloda and Porferio Eugenio defeated Caducio and Ancheta. The score was 7—5, 6—1. Tomelden and Orozco reached the semifinals by defeating Rillon and Reyes, 6—4, 6—3.

Today, at 5 o'clock at Potomac Park, P. M. Silva and Mariano Erana will meet Art Tomelden and Joe Orozco for the right to meet Rulloda and Eugenio in the finals.

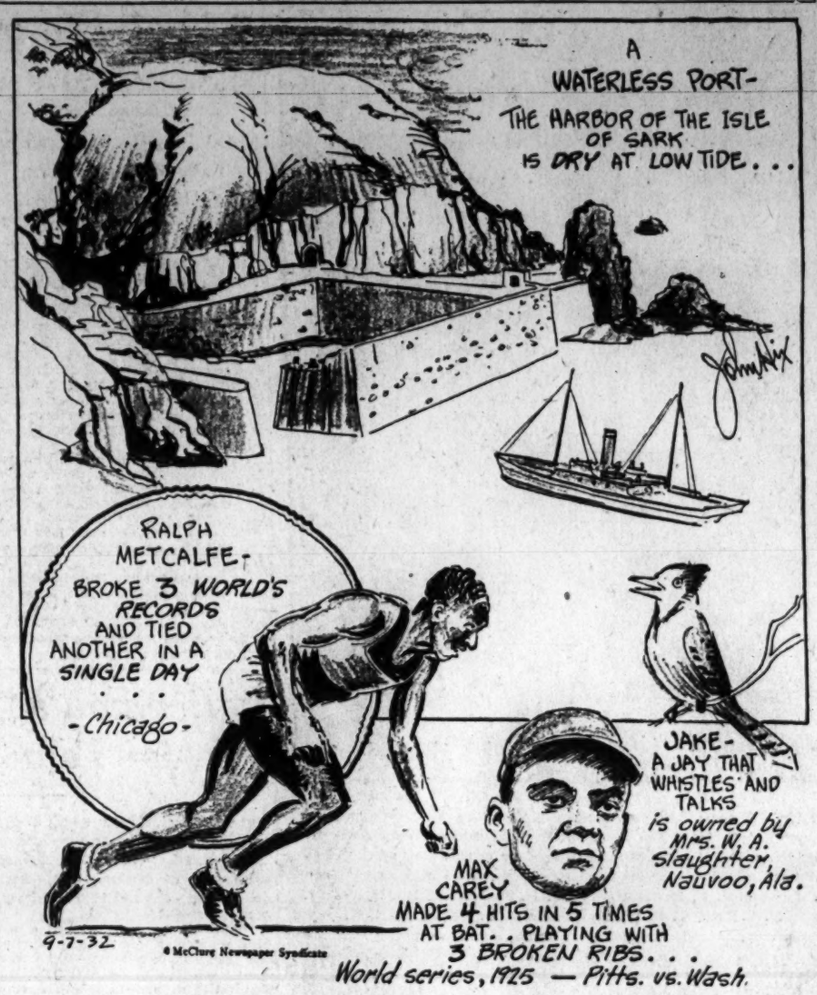
80 Navy Footballers Ready to Start Drills

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 6.—The stage was being set at the Naval Academy today for the inauguration of football practice. Practically all of the veterans of one or more campaigns, together with some promising youngsters who have come up to the varsity group, making up a squad of over 80 are on hand and eager to get down to the grind.

Head Coach Edgar E. ("Rip") Miller, and his staff of assistants, also are at the scene of activities. "Christy" Flanagan, half back mentor, being the last to join the circle, having just returned from a vacation passed at his former home in Texas. Today officials began distributing equipment among the players. This will be completed tomorrow, and the first active practice sessions will get under way Thursday.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



THE tiny harbor at the feudal Isle of Sark, in the English Channel, accommodates shipping only at high tide. The walled harbor is shallow at best, but during low tide it drains completely into the sea and becomes, strange as it seems, a dry port.

The strange harbor lies outside a high cliff separating it from the interior of the island. The only approach to the island proper from the port is through a 200-foot tunnel cut through the mountain. These obstacles proved impossible to overcome by invading armies and with a defensive force of 40 farmers, comparable to the American "minute-men" of colonial times, people of Sark could defend themselves against any threatened invasion. The island is under the flag of Great Britain, but it retains its feudal status. King George of England is not King George on the Isle of Sark—he is the Duke of Normandy.

FLOOD AREA SEWER TO COST $1,000,000

District Officials Survey Section to Decide on Corrective Steps.

Construction of a stormwater sewer at a cost of approximately $1,000,000 may be found necessary to prevent a repetition of the inundation of the streets in the vicinity of Fifth and Ingraham streets, J. B. Gordon, District sanitary engineer, said yesterday.

What curative steps will be taken or recommended to the Commissioners, however, will depend upon an exhaustive study, probably lasting six weeks, being conducted by the sewer department. Mr. Gordon said he hoped the condition could be corrected without the construction of a new sewer.

The sewer system in the flooded section was designed and started by D. E. McComb, superintendent of the District Sewer Department, in 1907. Subsequent sewer department officials, including the present ones, believed the facilities adequate, Mr. Gordon said, despite the occurrence of floods, such as that of Monday night, on several occasions.

After each inundation, Mr. Gordon said, corrections were made, and it was believed that the condition had been corrected until a subsequent heavy downpour again flooded the little valley.

Development of the east section of this area by the building of more houses and streets, he said, undoubtedly would prevent such a great demand for drainage at this one point.

Neither he nor R. S. Chapin, maintenance engineer, who directed the work yesterday of pumping water out of cellars in the area, would assign any direct cause for the inundation until completion of their study. Mr. Chapin, who was at Fifth and Ingraham streets during the storm, said the maximum level of the water in the streets was 4 feet 6 inches.

Secret Wedding of Two Writers Here Announced

The secret was revealed when the couple left for a belated honeymoon at Ocean City, Md. When they return they will resume their respective professional duties and make their home at 2115 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

HEARING ON RELIEF PAY CUT DEFERRED

Leifur Magnusson's Protest to Commissioners to Be Heard Later.

Upon request of Leifur Magnusson, president of the Monday Evening Club, the scheduled hearing on the club's protest against the proposed 40 per cent reduction in relief payments to the District's unemployed was postponed indefinitely yesterday by the District Commissioners.

After explaining that because of the vacation period he had been unable to get in touch with a sufficient number of the executive committee, Mr. Magnusson asked for a hearing subsequent to a meeting of the club this month, at which time the question of local relief will be discussed in public session. This request also was granted by the Commissioners.

Mr. Magnusson, in commenting on the welfare board's plan to reduce the scale paid unemployed in order to assure the continuance of the $350,000 fund until Congress reconvenes, said:

"As to the proposed lowering of the rate of relief pay, considering the matter now as purely a wage question, is there not grave doubt as to the validity of a 40 per cent reduction in the going rate?

"How slow the decrease in the cost of living in Washington has been is shown by the fact that it is only 36 per cent below the peak costs of June, 1920, only 19 per cent below June, 1929, and only 2 per cent lower than it was in June, 1931, when the going rate of common labor in Washington was probably 40 to 50 cents an hour."

NEW RULING SOUGHT ON MARRIED CLAUSE

Navy Yard in Dilemma on Enforced Discharge of 20 Employes.

A tangle of legality and other complications faced by navy yard officials in selecting the twenty men they must discharge because of lack of work and funds has forced the seeking of further rulings on the "married persons" provision of the economy act from Comptroller General McCarl, it developed yesterday.

In determining the men who would have to be dismissed, the navy yard officials picked out persons whose wives were employed in Government service. These selections were met with resignations on the part of the wives, forcing new selections, and by filing of separation statements by the men.

These ramifications caused the abandonment of the discharges until succinct rulings could be secured. Wishing to act with the utmost fairness, the officials have held up the dismissals and placed the men on furlough until the situation can be clarified by Mr. McCarl.

One of the questions to be settled is whether a separation of man and wife, by simple establishment of two residences and without any court action, meets the requirements of the economy act and shields either or both parties from being first chosen for discharge in any reduction of Federal employes.

9-Foot Plunge Fractures Skull of Georgetown Boy

Child Says He "Had Worse Falls Without Going to Hospital."

Plunging 9 feet into a concrete areaway at the rear of his home, 3817 T street northwest, yesterday afternoon, George Titcum, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Titcum, suffered a compound fracture of the skull and is in a critical condition in Georgetown University Hospital.

The child was playing with several companions when he suddenly slipped and fell down a flight of stone steps leading to the cellar door of his home.

Lawrence Cox, a neighbor, who was nearby, took George to the hospital. In the emergency room, after his injury had been diagnosed as a fractured skull, the boy remarked:

"Shucks, I've had worse falls than this and they never carried me to the hospital."

George's condition last night was said to be only "fair." His father is proprietor of the Titcum Paper Bag Co. in Georgetown. Mrs. Titcum was at home when the accident occurred, but did not see her son fall.

Policemen's "Colds" Found To Be Tear Bomb Sniffles

The crew of No. 61 Police Radio Car indulged in mutual sympathy last night. First Private H. H. Cheeney complained of catching cold. Next his partner, Private F. E. Kenney, began to sniffle.

The two policemen received a severe soaking Monday night during the sudden cloudburst and were among the first to reach the flooded area at Fifth and Ingraham streets northwest.

As the hours passed the policemen's sufferings grew worse. Tears rolled down their cheeks. They ran out of clean handkerchiefs. Something had to be done, so it was decided to report in at the station house.

Limply they climbed from the patrol car and started inside to tell their troubles to the commanding officer. Half-way up the steps of the station they stopped and look at each other in amazement. Their colds had left suddenly.

Both struck with the same thought, began a foot race for the parked radio car. Under the front seat was found the cause of their suffering. A tear gas bomb, soaked with water, was sending off its potent contents.

Another Merchant Loses In Phone "Change" Ruse

The telephone "change" ruse yesterday added another victim to its long list of Washington merchants. Abe Casslow, proprietor of a grocery at 1200 Twentieth street northwest, told police he lost $8.92 and a quantity of groceries to a prospective "customer."

A man's voice over the telephone ordered groceries valued at $1.08. He asked that they be sent to 1310 New Hampshire avenue northwest, Casslow declared. Change for $10 was requested.

The order was given to a delivery boy, Roger Young, colored. Young told police a man accosted him in front of the New Hampshire street address, declaring he was the one who phoned for the order. A check for $10 was given the boy, who in turn surrendered the change. Casslow declared the check was worthless.

Bus to Richmond Ditched; Delays Travel 2½ Hours

A Richmond-bound Greyhound bus skidded into a ditch a quarter of a mile below Accotink last night, delaying the twenty-five or more passengers about two and a half hours.

While no one was injured, the bus missed sliding down a six-foot ditch by a scant two feet. It came to rest on the side of the declivity at a 20-degree angle. The passengers waited on the side of the road until another bus from Washington reached the scene and pulled the first bus out.

Virginia State police said the accident was caused by sudden dimming of the lights on the bus which caused the driver to miss the road on a curve.

The bus left Washington at 7 o'clock last night. After it was pulled from the ditch the passengers resumed their journey at 10 o'clock.

Struck by an automobile and knocked from his bicycle as he rode near Georgia and New Hampshire avenues northwest, Paul Karmel, 15 years old, of 4442 Kansas avenue northwest, was taken to Garfield Hospital yesterday and treated for a fractured right collar bone and dislocated shoulder.

AUTOPSY SHOWS BOY DIED FROM TETANUS

Antitoxin Used in Smallpox Inoculation Is Being Examined.

Tetanus caused the death of William Sheckels, 5, Saturday at Children's Hospital, Coroner Joseph D. Rogers announced last night after an autopsy had been performed on the body of the child.

Tissues taken from the body were immediately put under microscopic observation to aid in determining whether the infection set in as a result of possibly inferior serum used in a smallpox inoculation, or whether the tetanus developed when the vaccination wound was accidentally broken.

The District chemist is testing samples of the serum given the child on August 11 by the vaccination medium. The boy was later sent to Children's Hospital on the advice of Dr. Albert Marland, who administered the vaccine.

Dr. Marland has contended that in his opinion the infection was caused by the vaccination wound being broken open and then picking up an infection. In this connection, he pointed out that conditions in the home of the child were somewhat overcrowded.

Dr. Rogers said that, pending the result of the tests, no decision can be reached as to through what medium the child became infected with the tetanus bacteria.

The coroner said that the tissue examination and other investigations would be conducted by his office, while the testing of vaccine samples is still in the hands of the District chemist, and the findings will not be available for at least 36 hours.

Water Supply in Nearby Counties Meet Drought

Automatic water-stage recorders installed in four observation wells in Arlington and Fairfax Counties indicate that drought conditions in northern Virginia apparently are being handled satisfactorily by an abundant supply of ground water, the Department of Interior announced yesterday.

Since June 1, said the announcement, there has been a general and large decline in the water levels, showing that there has been little or no recharge during the present summer. However, the department said, pronounced rise in the water levels in the winter of 1931-32, especially in the spring of this year, provided abundant replenishment of the ground water supply.

New State Vehicle Law Stirs Alarm

Pennsylvania Tag Decree Is Seen as Blow to Capital Vicinity.

Washington business houses and commercial and agricultural interests of Maryland and Virginia will be seriously affected by a law enacted by the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, according to Jerome Fanciulli, executive secretary of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Owners Association of the District.

The law states commercial motor vehicles operating into or through Pennsylvania for more than 15 days a year will be required to register in that State. This means operators of such vehicles will have to pay a registration fee and consequently will have to increase their charges for transportation of goods and products, Mr. Fanciulli said.

Due to the retaliatory provisions of the laws of the District, Maryland and Virginia, commercial vehicle owners of Pennsylvania will have to buy license tags and pay fees if they carry goods into this region, Mr. Fanciulli said. The Pennsylvania Legislature decided to enforce an old statute which requires the payment of an excise tax by all operators of trucks for hire from without the State.

UTILITY BODY DENIES ZONE FARES CONTROL

10-Cent Case Appeal Bars Authority to Fix Charges, Patrick Says.

Officials of the Public Utilities Commission yesterday denied that they had authority to inaugurate a zone-fare system such as proposed Saturday by People's Council Richmond B. Keech. Both Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, and William A. Roberts, special counsel, declared that they considered the hands of the commission tied by the fact that the 10-cent fare case is now before the Court of Appeals.

Gen. Patrick said that the commission was favorable to any experiment in zone fares and had so informed the street railway heads on several occasions. If the street car companies request permission to inaugurate such a system, he said, they will be accorded the support of the commission.

William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., and John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co., both said they would take time to study the proposal, but they gave little indication of making any such experiment.

The street car officials are known to hold the view that the cheap-rate taxicab competition should be removed before they make any concessions or experiments in the direction of reduced fares. They are not willing to make a bid for the short haul riders by underselling the taxicabs.
